HENTZEN BREAKS OWN GLIDE MARK, STAYING UP LONGER THAN 3 HOURS

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Aug. 25.—A NEW record for sustained flight in a motorless airplane was set yesterday by Herr Hentzen, student flier of the Hanover Technical School, when he remained in the air more than three hours.

The flight was made on the concluding day of the gliding competition held in Rhoen Mountains, near Gersfeld. Hentzen's machine landed 350 meters beyond the starting point.

Hentzen is the flier who started the world of aviation last Saturday by remaining in the air 3 hours and 10 seconds, breaking all records by a considerable margin.

Airman Botch of Darmstadt took off below the Wasserkuppe Mountain and despite squally gales, landed on its summit. Herr Hackman also of Darmstadt landed 330 meters beyond his starting point.

NORMANDIE GOLF CLUB CADDY SHACK BURNED

110 Members Lose Cherished Sticks—Loss Put at $10,000.

The caddy shack of Normandie Golf Club, St. Charles and Lucas roads, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin at 2 a. m. today and with went the most precious possessions of 110 members—their cherished sticks. The total loss, represented in the intrinsic or replacement value of clubs, balls, and bags, together with polishing equipment of the shack, was estimated by members at $10,000.

The fire was discovered by a motorman on the St. Charles street car line who aroused members of the club. A bucket brigade was organized by J. T. Templeton, president.

Templeton said that Charles P. Lockett, who had a precious club in the shack, looked at the door of the shack in vexation and scarcely could be restrained from raking his life to save a beloved niblick or something, and that Sandy Aucterlonie, the Scottish professional, who had clubs valued at $1000 in the shack, hooted until nearly distracted.

Caddy's Comment.
After daybreak several members and caddies held a post mortem over the remains of the shack and its contents. L. B. Smutz said the sportiest bunch of clubs around St. Louis had been lost in the fire. He was interested particularly in recovering the remains of a brass masher given him by Willie Kidd, and another member eagerly raked the ruins to recover a putter presented to him by Chick Evans.

But all that the caddies salvaged were chunks of molten brass and a wheelbarrow full of charred iron. "All the good fellows lost their sticks," said remarked another member. "The good fellows paid a dollar to keep their sticks in the shack, but the tightwads kept theirs in the clubhouse and escaped the loss. It beats hell how a tightwad gets by."

One of Oldest Clubs.
"Ye gods," exclaimed another, "think of the alibis that will grow out of this fire. All we'll hear for the next 20 years, when a bird makes a punk shot, will be, 'I would have put that one over had I not lost my shooter in the fire of '22.'"

Normandie is one of the oldest golf clubs around St. Louis, and about 75 of its members have been playing the game for 25 years. Many of them have had their clubs that long.

The caddies had a good time out of it this morning, "razzing" the members, who had not heard of the fire, as they appeared for play.

Aucterlonie notified sporting goods houses and is picking out new clubs for the members. He will be one of the heaviest losers, a member told him, for his tickets for lessons and balls issued this month were destroyed in the fire.

No insurance was carried on the shack or its contents.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CAULFIELD TO INVESTIGATE GAS RATE SITUATION

City Counselor to Study Financial Condition of Laclede Company With View of Seeking Reduction.

REPORT OF FIRM BASIS OF INQUIRY

Concern Earning $600,000 a Year in Excess of 7 Per Cent on Tentative Valuation of $30,000.

City Counselor Caulfield said today that he would begin immediately an investigation into the financial condition of the Laclede Gas Light Co. with a view to petitioning the Public Service Commission for a reduction of gas rates in the city.

His statement was in response to an inquiry by the Post-Dispatch following its exclusive publication yesterday of figures taken from reports of the Laclede to the Public Service Commission which establish that the company now is earning at the rate of approximately $600,000 a year in excess of a 7 per cent return on the tentative valuation of $30,000,000 set for it by the commission.

Comment on Report.
The figures set forth in the Post-Dispatch. Counselor Caulfield said, "bear out the predictions of the city in the last rate case of the Laclede before the commission last February. The Laclede at that time was seeking an increase in its electric rates. The city was opposing on the ground that the proposed increases of rates to yield it a fair return. However, the commission last month permitted the increase in electric rates, a further revenue to add to the company's prosperity which has not had time to reflect itself in the operating figures which already show an unusual prosperity.

"Large consumers of gas have filed a petition with the Public Service Commission for a reduction in their rates. It is my intention to appear at that hearing, which will come on some date in September, to protest against the proposed reduction of rates which will benefit the large consumers at the expense of the small, household consumers.

"It is probable that a discussion of that petition will open the whole question of Laclede rates. If so, this office will be prepared to make a complete showing on the company's financial condition.

Experts Sought.
"Though at times in the past I have been discouraged with the attempts to curtail the commission's inclination to grant substantial increases to public utilities, I feel that a showing of facts as they appear now to exist in the case of the Laclede will result in a speedy adjustment of rates by the commission."

As was told in the Post-Dispatch yesterday, the property of the Laclede, which carried 1 from an operating deficit of approximately $40,000 in the second quarter of 1921 to an operating surplus of $721,000 in the second quarter of 1922, has caused its common stock to ascend in price rapidly on the New York Stock Exchange. The stock was quoted at $43 a share at the beginning of 1922. On last Wednesday it had reached $92 a share and early quotations today were $92 1/2.

WAR PERIOD GAS RATES REDUCED IN MOST OTHER CITIES

Inquiry by Post-Dispatch Reveals That Cuts in Price Have Been Ordered Generally.

An inquiry by the Post-Dispatch to determine whether emergency, war-period gas rates, such as still are in force in St. Louis and are producing unusual prosperity for the Laclede Gas Light Co. here, are being observed in other large cities brought the replies given below.

Gas production conditions are identical in no two cities, but the Laclede company frequently has asserted that it is producing more efficiently than any other company in any large city.

SAN FRANCISCO.—The gas rate to householders was reduced this morning.

'POISON LETTERS' IN CANDLER CASE MAY LEAD TO SUIT

Attorneys Engaged by Mrs. de Bouchelle, Said to Be Planning to Wed Atlanta Millionaire.

RECENT ATTACKS LAID TO WOMAN

Lawyer, in Statement, Attributes Letters, Written From New Orleans, to "Disappointment and Malice."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 25.—Attorneys have been retained here by Mrs. Onetime de Bouchelle, divorced wife of Adolph Roquet, to bring suit against certain New Orleans men and women who, it is alleged, have been writing letters to persons in Atlanta attacking the character of Mrs. de Bouchelle.

Attorney Harold A. Moise, counsel for Mrs. de Bouchelle, has issued a statement in which he says that she was making her home in Reno, Nev., and was a gentleman "whose plans to wed Asa G. Candler, Atlanta millionaire, who made a fortune out of Coca-Cola, had not been interfered with by the writing of letters."

Judge Candler, a brother of the Atlanta millionaire, recently spent a few days here.

The "poison letters," which have arrived in Atlanta, it is said, were being written by a New Orleans woman. Warnings were given and the letters, it is said, contained charges, all of which were disproven. Mrs. de Bouchelle obtained counsel and the next move is said to be a suit in both the Federal and State courts for a large sum.

More than one person has "inter-meddled" in the affairs of Mrs. de Bouchelle, according to a statement authorized by Moise.

"As to the reports sent out from here undertaking to represent her as other than the cultured gentlemaness that she is, they were inspired by a disappointment and malice, and have totally failed of effect," continued Moise, whose statement followed reports that so-called "poison letters" were being written.

Says Objections to Marriage Are Based on Religious Grounds.
By the Associated Press.
RENO, Nev., Aug. 25.—Mrs. Onetime de Bouchelle has declared here that objection to her marriage to Asa G. Candler of Atlanta has been voiced by members of the Candler family on religious grounds.

Brother, who she said, is senior Bishop of the Methodist Church, South, at Atlanta, has opposed it for that reason, according to her statement. "I am a Catholic and a divorcee," Mrs. de Bouchelle asserted, "and I have been in society and have been a divorcee leader and Bishop Candler does not approve of any of these things."

SCRUGGS MEMORIAL PREACHER DESIGNS WHEN NOT UPHELD

Climax Reached in Differences Growing Out of Revival, Said to Resemble "Holy Rollers" Meetings.

PASTOR HAD 'OUSTED' SUNDAY SCHOOL HEAD

Bishop McMurry Fails to Sanction Removal of B. P. McNail by the Rev. M. H. Markley.

The Rev. Morse H. Markley today resigned the pastorate of Scruggs Memorial Methodist Church, South, Cook and Spring avenues, and withdrew from the denomination, following the decision of Bishop W. F. McMurry, overruling the minister in his attempt to remove B. P. McNail as superintendent of the Sunday school.

The differences between the minister and the superintendent arose over the methods of a revival conducted in the church last spring, at which there were emotional manifestations to which some members objected as being similar to those seen at "Holy Roller" meetings.

Pastor Defends Revival.
In a statement issued today, the Rev. Mr. Markley defended the methods of the revival, and spoke of the objections as indicating, in his view, a spirit of unbelief. He declared that the revival meetings, which were conducted by the Rev. Charles Shreve of Washington, "followed Bible lines of faith and prayer, and that the charge of undue emotionalism came from persons dominated by 'intellectualism and formalism.'" He added:

"Ridicule or criticism of peculiar manifestations which accompanied the revival is characteristic of unbelief, in primitive times and in our own day."

He said his attempted removal of McNail as superintendent was merely an incident of the discussion. The superintendent of the Sunday school, he said, is virtually assistant pastor, and he found that, with McNail out of sympathy with him and his program, the Sunday school was practically severed from the church. He said also that McNail, who was appointed last January to fill a vacancy, had not been confirmed in his position by the quarterly conference, and hence was removable. Bishop McMurry, however, held that the superintendent was not removable.

Bishop Intimated Transfer.
Bishop McMurry, who was here yesterday, intimated that the Rev. Mr. Markley probably would be transferred to another church in the district conference, which is to open at Flat River Sept. 27. The minister, however, chose not to remain longer, and announced his determination to surrender his credentials and withdraw from the ministry of the Methodist Church, South.

The Rev. Mr. Markley said that, at the solicitation of many of his former members, he had made a temporary arrangement to use the church building of the Assembly of God, 4524 McMillan avenue, and that Sunday school and morning preaching services would be held there Sunday and prayer meeting Wednesday night. The Assembly of God is the organization which brought Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson to St. Louis for her meetings held in April and May, 1921.

This arrangement is only temporary, the minister added, and he expects that he and his followers will "become identified with a regular organization in the near future."

The Rev. Dr. M. T. Haw, presiding elder, announced that the Rev. J. M. Bradley, educational secretary, would take charge of Scruggs Memorial Church until a pastor is named at the district conference next month.

ATTEMPT TO SETTLE SHOP STRIKE ENDS IN FAILURE

Statement Issued by Executives After Break-Up of Conference Disclaims Any Desire to Curtail "Pension or Other Privileges" of Men Out.

STRIKERS URGED TO REDOUBLE EFFORTS

"We Know Where We Stand Now," Says One Labor Leader; Fight to the Finish Is Indicated by Union Leaders.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Attempts to end the railway shopmen's strike by separate settlements with individual roads failed today, and conferences were broken off.

Daniel Willard, head of the Baltimore & Ohio, head of the committee of executives, who Wednesday decided to continue negotiations with the mediating brotherhood chiefs to see if separate settlements were possible, and other railway heads are preparing to leave town.

Statement by Executives.
From unofficial sources it was learned that the breakup came when labor men rejected a proposal advanced by the roads which was regarded by executives as presenting a big concession.

A statement by the executives representing 52 main and subsidiary lines with 65,000 miles of track, who had attended the latest conference, disclaimed any desire to take advantage of the strike situation to curtail "the pension or other privileges" which had been earned by the strikers before quitting, and expressed a willingness to restore all strikers with pension privileges unimpaired.

The executives said they felt at liberty to do so, as it did not impair the rights or privileges of the other roads not participating in the conference.

Commission Proposed.
The roads set forth that if there were any unsettled disputed points which could not be settled by direct conference they were willing to submit them to a commission of 10, comprising the heads of the big five brotherhoods and five executives. The lines, they said, were willing to enter upon such a plan in a spirit of conciliation.

The executives said they regretted that the representatives of the strikers, although definitely assured the substance of all they asked for, were unwilling to agree to settle under the conditions proposed. The roads' statement added that the lines were willing to pledge themselves to find jobs for all strikers in the same places of employment at the rate of pay fixed by the Railroad Labor Board.

Reply of Shopmen.
A statement issued at labor headquarters said that while not questioning the integrity of the executives in making their latest proposal, the unions could not accept it.

The shop craft leaders, in their reply to the executives, said that to accept the proposition of the minority of railroad would destroy the effectiveness of the strike and that they would consider it a desertion of the other men.

In making public the shop craft reply to the executives, B. M. Jewell, spokesman for the strikers, issued a short statement, in which he said:

"We do not blame the more reasonable executives who have evidently yielded to pressure. We believe in the strike."

ADMINISTRATION HAS NO INTENTION OF ACTING AT PRESENT IN SHOP STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—THE administration has no intention of making any move, at least for the present, in the railway shopmen's strike situation as a result of the failure of the New York peace conference, it was asserted this afternoon by a member of President Harding's cabinet.

The cabinet officer, speaking with the knowledge of plans as discussed at today's cabinet meeting, indicated, however, that the President was firm in his determination standing by his pronouncement to Congress last week that he was "resolved to use" all the power of the Government to maintain transportation and sustain the rights of men to work.

Recommend That Renshaw Trustees Be Made Receivers

East St. Louis Bar Committee Submits Plan of Winding Up Affairs of Insolvent Realty Concern.

The special committee appointed Wednesday by the East St. Louis Bar Association to determine the legality of a plan to have the trustees of J. W. Renshaw's Sons, an insurance and realty company, appointed receivers, today made a report recommending the filing of a bill in equity by a creditor or creditors to have the trustees appointed receivers so that liquidation can be started at once.

The report of the committee was received and approved, and D. E. Keefe, chairman, said the bill would be filed Tuesday or Wednesday at Belleville and that it was believed the court would not object to a change in the status of the trustees to that of receivers.

The Renshaw company failed with liabilities now said to exceed $400,000, and the trustees have been unable to determine the approximate sum of the assets. Henry T. Renshaw, president of the concern, has been arrested on several warrants charging forgery.

The report today gave no assurance that bankruptcy would not be resorted to, but the creditors see in the plan recommended something that will stave off bankruptcy.

The committee also recommended that such papers as wills and insurance policies be given to their owners at once, and only

OMAHA LABOR BODY ASKS FOR NATIONAL STRIKE BY UNIONS

Adopts Resolution Seeking General Walkout in Protest Against "Slavery Conditions Imposed on Us."

SCORES PRESIDENT AND GOVERNMENT

Charges Treasury Doors Thrown Open for Relief of Big Business as Represented by Railroad Owners.

By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 25.—John M. Gibb, president of the Central Labor Union of Omaha, has made public a resolution recently adopted by that body, and sent to other labor organizations for similar action, calling on the executive council of the American Federation of Labor to call a national strike in protest against "the slavery conditions that are being imposed upon us."

The resolution, after referring to the strike of the miners, railway employees and New England textile workers, declares that "the President of the United States now informs us through the medium of the public press that it is his purpose to use the full power of the Government, both military and judicial, to intimidate and oppress a free people and to bend them to his will, that the American standard of living be lowered."

The charge was also made that the doors of the United States treasury have also been thrown open for the relief of big business as represented by the railroad owners.

Similar Action Is Taken in Sacramento, Cal.

By the Associated Press.
PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 25.—The Portland Labor Council has adopted the "Omaha resolution" asking the executive council of the American Federation of Labor to call a national strike, W. E. Kinney, secretary of the council, announced. Kinney says this will be forwarded to the executive council which has no power to call a strike but which has authority to propose to individual unions whether they desire to join a nationwide walkout.

Arrested Radicals in Michigan Prepare for Defense.

By the Associated Press.
ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Aug. 25.—White authorities of Saginaw County are arranging for the prosecution of 17 radicals arrested Tuesday in the woods near Bridgman, counsel for the alleged Communists and members of the radical party are busy preparing up the defense to fight the charges of seditious and conspiracy made by the State of Michigan.

William Z. Foster, head of the Trade Organization Educational League, arrested in Chicago, is being held here, it is at liberty under bond of $10,000, and while Michigan authorities are seeking requisition, he is being held here, Foster is expected to fight extradition. He is attending the Bridgman hearing.

Preliminary steps in the prosecution probably will be taken next week, officials say. Meanwhile the 17 prisoners are held under bonds of $10,000 each. Each defendant is charged with two counts—violation of the Michigan seditious law and conspiracy against the Government.

Federal operatives who joined forces with county authorities in rounding up the radicals continue their search for others who attended the Communist convention. At least 75 persons were at the meeting. Federal agents say, adding that they have personal records of each to do with a significant report of the meeting.

David Beardsley, Chicago attorney, is in charge of the defense preparation. At Chicago, J. P. Rooney, head of the local bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice, said he had learned of a meeting called for next week to raise a defense fund.

C. S. Ruthenberg, one-time candidate for Governor of Ohio, acting as spokesman for his fellow prisoners, expressed confidence of beating the charges against them. The Michigan law, he declares, is too vague in sounding punishment for advocating social and industrial reform.

Same Kind of Revolution Has Been Adopted in St. Louis.

The St. Louis Central Trade and Labor Union on Aug. 14 adopted a similar resolution introduced by Charles Brown, specialist of the iron workers' local, who had presided previously at a meeting addressed by William Z. Foster, noted radical. Local union leaders said at the time that the resolution had been passed in Omaha following Foster's visit. It has been adopted also by central bodies in Denver, Detroit, San Francisco and New York.

By the Associated Press.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Aug. 25.—The four convicts who escaped from the penitentiary here Aug. 17 fought a posse near Sanford, S. D., about 4 a. m. today, mortally wounding the State's Attorney M. L. Parish of Jones County and wounding Sheriff Jay C. Babcock. They made off in the State's Attorney's automobile.

The men were pursued from Murdo, S. D., by a hastily organized posse when it was learned they had recrossed the Missouri River into South Dakota and were heading toward the Bad Lands.

DE LORE DENIES TRYING TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF FIRM

C. P. De Lore, 6528 Pershing avenue, who was temporarily enjoined yesterday by the Circuit Court at Chicago from selling $100,000 worth of bonds of the Mineral Refining and Chemical Corporation, to satisfy a loan of $100,000, which has been in default since Aug. 10, today denied allegations in the petition by the corporation that he was in any manner attempting to take advantage of the company's financial straits.

The corporation manufactures paint pigment, and last February borrowed $100,000 from De Lore, giving $500,000 of its bonds as security. The loan was for six months, and was to mature Aug. 19. When the corporation found itself unable to pay, De Lore then, it is alleged, threatened to sell the bonds.

It is alleged in the petition that he violated the State usury laws in demanding 7 per cent interest and "good will money" to obtain which he was made controller of the company.

De Lore said that the transaction was regular and legal; that the board of directors had passed on and agreed to everything that he managed the plant as controller and otherwise made himself useful to earn the $10,000.

He said that he had been in the paint pigment business and was intending to start a similar business last February when the corporation solicited the loan.

Railroad Head Gives $1000 to Relieve Wives and Children of Strikers

By the Associated Press.

SALISBURY, N. C., Aug. 25.—ALFRED HARRISON, president of the Southern Railway, has sent his personal check for $1,000 as a contribution to a fund to relieve suffering and want upon the part of women and children of the striking shop craft workers of the railroad at Spencer and Salisbury.

In a letter accompanying the check received yesterday, Harrison declared he was "acutely conscious of the plight of the women and children of the men who elected to suspend their bread winning and have nothing laid aside for the long pull."

The men were pursued from Murdo, S. D., by a hastily organized posse when it was learned they had recrossed the Missouri River into South Dakota and were heading toward the Bad Lands.

RAIL NEGOTIATIONS IN NEW YORK HAVE BEEN ABANDONED

Over the next few weeks will enable them to bring home to their hard shell colleagues the railroad situation in its grim reality.

Jewell added that the strikers could and would fight for their minimum terms and a nation-wide settlement, as long as could the railroad management.

"Now that we are compelled to fight," said Jewell, "our victory will bring with it victory on all the issues for which the strike was called."

In announcing the breaking off of negotiations, David Williams, head of the Eastern Shopmen's Strike Committee, said "nothing else could have happened," and that "if they quit fussing around we'll beat these fellows."

At labor headquarters, where it was said the union were preparing for a fight to the finish, telegrams were being dispatched all over the country, calling upon strikers to renew the struggle with redoubled vigor.

"We know where we stand now," said one leader.

Shortly before noon when the brotherhood men left the Yale Club to confer again at their hotel with the shop craft leaders it had been indicated they would resume their session with the executives in the afternoon.

Two-Hour Session.
The break came after a two-hour session, when right along has maintained that the strike must end because the public demanded it. Had spent two days conferring with executives representing about 20 per cent of the country's mileage.

These negotiations looking toward individual settlements began Wednesday night, after the Association of Railway Employees as a whole had rejected any proposal involving a surrender on the seniority question.

One of the brotherhood leaders said after the conference that the mediators had made every possible effort to bring about a settlement, but that negotiations had blown up. He indicated there was no likelihood at present that they would be resumed.

DETECTIVES' CHANCE QUESTIONS LEAD TO JEWELRY RECOVERY

Midnight Street Corner Conversation With Woman Results in Return of $500 in Jewelry.

Jewelry valued at $500, which disappeared in January, 1929, was recovered and restored yesterday through investigations of police night riders following a chance questioning of a woman and two men seen talking on Belle Glade avenue at midnight several days ago. The police inquired the identity of the trio.

The woman substantiated her statements by documentary evidence in her purse, including a pawn ticket which she said was for jewelry given her by her husband.

The husband said the jewelry had been found by his wife in some old clothing which he had obtained in 1929 at 2544 North Grand boulevard, while soliciting for a charitable organization.

At that address police were told that Carl A. Vogt, a druggist, had lived there at that time. He was traced to a drug store at Fourteenth and Benton streets, where he is employed, and described jewelry which disappeared from his home in 1929. The description fitted the jewelry called for on the pawn ticket and it was restored to Vogt after he paid the $20 loan. Vogt refused to prosecute.

One Fined $75 and Other $100 in Belleville Court for Operating Whisky Still.

Two women pleaded guilty to charges of violating the prohibition law yesterday in the Belleville court. One was fined $75 and the other $100 for operating a whisky still.

One of the women, Mrs. Annie Hotches, was fined $75 and Mrs. Catherine Sereno $100 and each on charges of operating stills. They both stated that their husbands were out of work.

Mrs. Hotches said she has a husband and two children. Mrs. Sereno is a widow and has three children. Three women have been fined for law violation in four days.

Patsy Madison was fined $200 and costs on a similar charge a few days ago and is serving out her fine in the Belleville jail. Mrs. Hotches and Mrs. Sereno paid their fines and costs.

SLEEPING WOMAN SHOT TO DEATH BY DRUNKEN HUSBAND

Two Daughters, Earning $14 a Week, Would Support Three Younger Sisters and Brother.

YOUNGEST CHILD IS YEAR-OLD GIRL

Laborer Says Wife Refused to Move to Another City Where He Expected to Get Work.

Pearl Hembree, 17 years old, of 1444 North Thirteenth street, said today that she and her sister Mabel, 14, would care for their three younger sisters and one brother, who have been left without parental care through the murder of their mother, Mrs. Martha Jane Hembree, by their father, Albert E. Hembree, last night.

Pearl works in a medicine factory and makes $3 a week. Mabel works in another establishment, pasting labels, at $4 a week. The two girls seem to believe they could provide for other children; the youngest of whom, a year-old baby, was sleeping beside her mother when the mother was shot to death.

Neighbors urged the girls to let them care for the children, or let least for the infant but the girls insisted that they could make ends meet. "I've taken care of the children before," Pearl said.

The four younger children are Daisy, 11; Ethel, 8; Andrew, 2; and Dorothy, 1.

Lived in Two Rooms.

The children live in two rooms, the home of the family up to last night. Hembree's story, as told to the police, is that he had been out of work and that he had a better chance of getting work in Springfield, Ill., and could get a cottage to live in. He is a laborer.

"I wanted a separate house," he said, "and I wanted my wife to go with me. She could have a better home for the children. She wouldn't go, and we quarreled about it. Last night, after she had again refused to leave here, and had accused me of going to another woman, I went out in the neighborhood and got some 'moonshine' whisky. I drank about a teaspoonful, and it made me crazy."

Younger Children in Room.
The four younger children were in the parents' sleeping room when the father returned at 10 o'clock, after having been away about a half-hour. The mother and baby were lying on a pallet on the floor.

Hembree said afterward that he fired at his wife in the dark, how many times he did not know. Her wounds were in the head and the abdomen, and she died within a few minutes.

Dale Hembree entered the room as her father went out and put his revolver back in his former place under his pillow.

Police, who heard the shots, caught Hembree as he was slinking through an alley, his coat and shoes in his hands. He was taken to the Carr street station.

Relatives of the family live in Kansas City and in Chicago. The family came here from Kansas City three years ago, and the father, who is a laborer, works for the Simmons Hardware Co. and the Columbia Box Co.

GIRL DENIED BOBBED HAIR; INTRUDER CUTS OFF STRAND

Flora Backus, 14 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Backus, of 4121 Duane street, said today that she had been bopped a year ago to have her hair bopped. Her parents refused. Her long, dark brown hair was cut off by a stranger who came into her room. She said she was not bopped, but that she had been cut off by a stranger who came into her room. She said she was not bopped, but that she had been cut off by a stranger who came into her room.

She had been out riding with her parents. They returned home at 10:30 p. m. and retired. She was awakened, she declared, at 11 p. m. by the noise of the screen being moved in her window. She ran to the kitchen, which separates her bedroom from that of her parents, yelling, "Burglars!" and instinctively felt her hair, she said, finding the strand off. It was part of a single long braid.

Her room had been ransacked and some clothing piled up. She thought to be taken away. There was no hair on a pair of scissors in her drawer. Backus said he had heard the gate in the yard slam a few moments before his daughter screamed. He looked out a window and saw a man hurrying toward Gravois avenue, but later learned this was a neighbor who goes to work at that hour.

LEADER IN FIGHT AGAINST COLLINS ABANDONS REBELS

Director of Ambuscade Fatal to Irish National Army Commander Offers Services to Free State.

OTHER REBELS MAY EMULATE ACTION

Body of Collins Viewed by All Classes and Creeds—Government Will Continue Along Existing Lines.

DUBLIN, Aug. 25.—The body of Michael Collins lay on its bier in Dublin City today, where Irishmen of all classes and creeds filed past for a last look at the features of the Free State commander-in-chief.

The flag-covered coffin, which arrived from Cork yesterday, was first taken to St. Vincent hospital, where Arthur Griffith died so recently, and then last night to the city hall, where the body will lie in state until Sunday. The funeral has been set for Monday morning, with solemn high requiem mass in the pre-cathedral and interment in Glasnevin cemetery.

It has been announced that the government will continue along the exact lines laid down by Collins and Griffith, and those left in charge, William Cosgrave and Richard Mulcahy, have expressed their determination to see the Free State set on a firm foundation. Mulcahy succeeds Collins as leader-in-chief of the National Army and Cosgrave is acting as head of the government. What actual changes will be made in the ministry is unknown, and the Dail Eireann session set for Saturday has been postponed to Sept. 2.

Words spoken from Cork that Tom Hales, who directed the ambuscade near Bandon in which Collins was killed and who accepts responsibility for the General's death, has abandoned the rebel cause, offering his services to the Free State. It is thought this act of contrition may be emulated by others.

De Valera Reported Active With Large Rebel Force

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 25.—Eamonn de Valera, Irish republican leader, has emerged from seclusion since the death of Michael Collins and is reported to be active with a large force of rebels, the Belfast correspondent for the Evening News today said he had learned.

National Army Captures Two Towns in County Cork.
By the Associated Press.
BELFAST, Aug. 25.—National Army troops today captured the towns of Kinsale and Duncannon, the last two positions held by Irish irregulars in County Cork, according to advices received here.

A remarkable cohesion to the Nationalist sentiment is seen in the decision of the Down Royal Corporation promoters of the Maze horse races, the most important meeting in Ulster, to cancel the second day program next Monday because of the funeral of Michael Collins.

Added significance is given by the fact that the promoters previously declined to postpone Saturday's events, although an Orange demonstration will be held only four miles from the race track on the same day.

Bernard Shaw Says Ireland Suffering From Homicidal Mania.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—In a special message to the Guardian, the death of Michael Collins, Bernard Shaw said:

"Ireland is suffering from an epidemic of homicidal mania and is calling it patriotism. If the shooting of Collins doesn't turn every sensible Irishman into a resolute special constable, the country must perish because if it cannot govern itself no power on earth can govern it. Self-government will become self-extermination."

THREE HURT WHEN AUTO WRECKS A MILK WAGON

Milk Man Seriously Injured—
Traffic on Viaduct Blocked
30 Minutes.

Rudolph Kessler, 29 years old, 1929 Mississippi avenue, was injured seriously at 4 o'clock this morning when a milk wagon he was driving north at the center of the Grand boulevard viaduct was struck from the rear and wrecked by an automobile driven by Charles Kastermenke, 37, of 3789 North Eleventh street.

Kastermenke and a companion, Harry B. Unland, 32, of 3320 North Eleventh street, suffered minor injuries and a third man in the car, a borrowed machine, escaped. The wreckage of the milk wagon and the damaged automobile blocked traffic on the viaduct for 30 minutes before a half-dozen men could clear a passage way. Milk bottles were strewn over the street.

Kessler suffered a fracture of the right foot, several fractures of the ribs and internal injuries. His condition is said to be serious.

Kastermenke, who said he had borrowed the car from a relative last night to take several friends riding, declared the milk wagon, owned by the Pevsky company, carried no tail light and that he had not seen the wagon before he struck it. Police-men found a red lantern in the wreckage of the wagon but could not tell whether it had been lit. Kastermenke was held on a charge of careless driving.

Two Young Women Hurt in Automobile Accidents.
One young woman was run down and another slightly injured in two automobile accidents yesterday, the police holding two drivers on careless driving charges.

Miss Lola Dunn, 22 years old, 4311 Swan avenue, was run down at Tower Grove and Folsom avenues at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Miss Dunn suffered lacerations of the scalp, probable fracture of the skull, a fracture of the right arm near the wrist, and internal injuries. Bougianni was driving west on Folsom avenue and Harris was driving south on Tower Grove avenue. Both men were held on charges of careless driving.

Shortly after noon yesterday a coupe driven by Mrs. Esther Brememan, 4125 Lindell boulevard, skidded on the eastbound street car tracks at Southwest avenue and Fifty-ninth street, and collided with a westbound Tower Grove car, which had stopped at the intersection.

Mrs. Brememan was bruised about the chest from being thrown against the steering wheel of her car. The street car and automobile were damaged slightly.

BUDGET DIRECTOR TO SETTLE ROW BETWEEN FALL AND LASKER

Dispute Has to Do with Renewal of Shipping Board's Contract for Oil.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—President Harding, it was learned today, has entrusted to Budget Director Lord the task of breaking a deadlock existing between Secretary Fall and Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board of the question of renewal of the shipping board's contract with the Interior Department for Naval Royalty Oil.

Secretary Fall, it was explained, declined to renew an arrangement whereby the shipping board obtained approximately 250,000 barrels of naval oil monthly for its vessels at a price less than the base Mid-Continent price, declared to be 25 cents a barrel more than the price the shipping board has been paying.

Chairman Lasker, it was said, could not agree, and insisted on a renewal at the old price. The matter was referred to President Harding, who, in turn asked General Lord as co-ordinator to intervene.

Secretary Fall's position was said to be that the Navy was entitled to a normal market price for its royalty oil.

DOCTOR WALKS RAILROAD BRIDGE AT MIDNIGHT TO ATTEND BIRTH

No Boatman Could Be Found So He Made His Way Across Mississippi on Cross Tie.

Current birth statistics in the vicinity of Alton are almost unanimously masculine. Of 19 births reported in the last two days, nine were boys.

The arrival of one of the boy babies was accomplished after Dr. Mathias Proffensberger had walked the cross-ties of the railroad bridge across the Mississippi River at midnight to the West Alton neighborhood. No boatman could be found when the call came and the bridge was the only chance. The doctor walked it, was met on the opposite side by an automobile and returned the same way, barely completing the return trip before a storm broke.

PARACHUTE JUMP AT ARMY FLYING CIRCUS

Italy, Who Brought Down, 10 German Planes in War, to Give Performance.

James A. Healy, Chanute Field, Hannibal, Ill., who brought down 10 German planes during the war, and who has received medals from this country and others for bravery, will take part in the "flying circus" at Scott Field, Belleville, Sunday. The program will begin at 9 a. m. and continue throughout the day. The program, derived from charges made by the army, will be the first of its kind in the history of the flying circus at Scott Field.

Parachute jump by Lieut. Healy, 19 other aviators have been arranged for the day. These include a wedding in the air, a three-hour balloon race and the release of small parachutes with pennies attached as souvenirs for spectators.

Arrangements have been made for the thousands of automobiles on the field. Soldiers will be stationed at Belleville and on the roads leading to the field, to direct automobiles.

Flares of various types will be brought from Chanute Field to take part in the circus, to augment the excitement of Scott Field, which is a famous airship center. The work of the men at the post will be shown in a skit which will be prepared in the school building.

MOTORISTS WARNED AGAINST USE OF GLARING HEADLIGHTS

More Than 100 Arrests in First 15 Days of August—Inspection of Lights Free.

President Brockman of the Police Board has stated, in reply to a letter from Paul J. Bierman, an insurance adjuster, that more than 100 arrests were made in the city during the first 15 days of August for violation of the law against glaring automobile headlights, and that hundreds of other motorists have been warned about the type of their headlights or manner of adjustment. Brockman added that the strike of railroad shopmen had been a drain on the available forces of police, and that after the strike there will probably be more arrests for glaring headlights.

Motorists may have their lights examined as to legality, and adjustments recommended free of charge by city inspectors by driving to a west-side basement entrance of the city hall, daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., except that the office closes at noon Saturday.

Thousands of St. Louis men have been converted to the two-pants suit idea, and have learned through practical experience that the extra pair of trousers does double the life of the suit. The coat and vest, usually discarded when the first pair of trousers begins to show the effects of hard wear, take on a new lease of life when that extra pants is brought forth.

WRECK RESPONSIBILITY IS PUT ON ENGINEMAN

Frisco Collision at Logan Mo.,
Laid to Failure to Heed Signals
in Report to I. C. C.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Responsibility for the head-on collision between two Frisco passenger trains at Logan, Mo., on July 22, which resulted in the death of five passengers and one employee and the injury of 107 passengers, is placed on Engineer Ring of Train No. 9 in a report to the Interstate Commerce Commission by the chief of its Bureau of Safety, William P. Borland, after an investigation.

The conclusions of the report in part were as follows:

"This accident was caused by the failure of Engineer Ring of train No. 9 to operate his train in accordance with signal indications and to head in at the east switch of the siding at Logan, as required by train order No. 26.

"The investigation established the fact that Engineer Ring correctly understood train order No. 26 received at Billings, changing the meeting points with train No. 2 from Aurora to Logan, and that, having Billings he knew he was required to take siding for train No. 2 at Logan, which was only five miles distant. Because of his death in the accident the reason for Engineer Ring's failure to obey this order cannot be definitely determined.

"Borland declared also that 'this accident again calls attention to the necessity for an automatic train control device to be used in connection with existing signal devices.'

STEWARDS' ASSOCIATION ELECTS ST. LOUISAN AS PRESIDENT

Marion Manner Heads Body—Decision to Use English in Menus
Wherever Possible.

The annual convention of the International Stewards' Association closed yesterday at the Hotel Statler with the election of officers and the selection of Fort Worth, Tex., as the next convention city.

Among the questions settled by the convention was the much-contested one dealing with the advisability of retaining French terms on menu cards. It was recommended that English be used wherever possible. Enforcement on pure food and net weight laws was considered, and sectional committees appointed to investigate compliance with these laws. The establishment of courses in hotel management in universities also was favored.

The following officers were elected: Marion Manner of St. Louis, president; W. R. Richter, Pittsburg, first vice president; G. H. Mullis, Boston, second vice president; Mrs. E. V. James, St. Louis, third vice president; Hiram J. Trapp, Seattle, fourth vice president; James Mills, Columbus, O., fifth vice president; Lee Hauer, Chicago, secretary, and Augustus Miller, Pittsburg, treasurer. Those elected to the Board of Trustees are: J. H. Austin of Chicago; J. W. Paine, Chicago; Leo Alsup, Fort Worth; W. H. G. Wilson, Chicago; and L. G. Davis, Chicago.

14 WOMEN TO A MAN; 30 CENTS LASTS MONTH

Shipwrecked Sailor Tells of Life on Island of the Ellice Group.

By the Associated Press.
HONOLULU, Aug. 21.—A sunny coral tale in the South Seas, where lazy palms fringe the atolls and the women, young and winsome outnumber the men more than 14 to 1, where 30 cents lasts a month. This is the story told of Tagawa, an island of the Ellice group, by Capt. J. A. T. Olsen of the American schooner Henriette, wrecked July 16 in those latitudes.

Capt. Olsen and the members of his crew are in Honolulu with the British steamer Hauraki, which took them up at Tagawa and is taking them to San Francisco. And the captain's tale runs as follows:

Tagawa is the only habitable island of the Ellice group. Its population consists of 150 persons, of whom only 12 are men.

"Our schooner was swung off her course and on to Mukualli reef by heavy seas. We struck at night and at dawn saw native men, clad in loin cloths, pushing an outrigger canoe into the water. With their assistance we made the shore in safety.

Hailed With Joy.

"Our coming was hailed with joy by the natives, who pass their existence in a state of isolation. The women outnumber the men 14 to 1 or more, and some of them are beautiful. Their ages range from 12 to 18 years and there are only a few older.

"The chief of the tribe, a husky Samoan, turned over his grass hut palace to the mate and myself as our private quarters. He also tendered me one of his daughters, with a beautiful dark haired girl with a lovely figure, as a servant. Other pretty girls were assigned to the mate and to members of the crew to wait on them.

"I had only 30 cents in my pocket when I landed but money was no object. Many dinners were given in our honor and native maidens in grass skirts performed hula dances. All the inhabitants of the island are Christians and lead upright lives.

Hard Time Getting Away.
"We had a hard time getting away. The women wanted husbands and to be carried on all sides. Filled with a 15-jewel silver movement, fitted to a sturdy leather strap, guaranteed.

not worrying, for if the Hauraki had not sighted us, we would have been taken off the island by the London missionary society boat which calls at Tagawa twice each year."

Thrift Means Happiness
Happiness is a movable feast. It moves out the window when the wolf prowls around the door. When there's a continual strain to bring together the well known "both ends" the pursuit of Happiness becomes a losing race.
Thrift is the antidote. It brings back the smile and the song, but it's a two-sided proposition. We encourage it, urge it. It's up to you to practice it, work it.
It works fine when you get going. Start today, for Happiness' sake.

Government Officials Believe Administration's Overtures Will Bring Anthracite Parleys.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Negotiations between anthracite and United Mine Workers officials to end the suspension of mining operations are expected by officials close to President Harding to be resumed within a week as the result of overtures made on behalf of the administration.
President Harding, it was said today in an official quarter conversation with the anthracite situation, holds that the negotiations which were suspended early this week through failure of the operators and union officials to reach an agreement, particularly on the question of arbitration, should be resumed at once.

CONSTITUTION BODY MAY RECLASSIFY STATE FUNCTIONS

Passage of Committee Recommendation Would Permit Legislature to Curb Powers.

12 DEPARTMENTS ARE PROPOSED

Committee Also Favors Making Pardoning Power of Governor Contingent on Prison Board Vote.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 25.—The Governor may be shorn of some of his appointive power over the 11 old boards, bureaus and commissions now functioning in Missouri, if a recommendation of the Constitution Convention's Committee on executive and ministerial departments for reclassification of all executive and administrative functions into 12 departments is written into the Constitution and adopted by the people.

The provision, as adopted by the committee yesterday by a vote of eight to two, would establish departments of state, law, audits and accounts and treasury and such administrative departments not to exceed eight, as the Legislature may create. It would not change the number of elective state officers.

Would Have 12 Departments.

All of the executive and administrative officers, boards, bureaus and commissions would be grouped in the 12 departments. "Under such supervision and regulation as may be prescribed," the Legislature would be empowered to increase, diminish or modify the powers and functions of these various bodies and to say how the eight unnamed departments shall be selected, whether elected or appointed. The plan, modeled somewhat on consolidation plans in other states, might mean the elimination of many of the 70 and more separate groups which are functioning in Missouri now as Oregon is reorganization eliminated 40 out of 105.

At present practically all of the boards, bureaus, commissions and important administrative officials aside from the Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer and Attorney General, are appointed by the Governor. It is entirely possible that a Legislature in re-grouping the subordinate functions might see fit to distribute them among the other elective state officers.

This would be just the course of Gov. Hyde's consolidation program, by which he tried to get the last Legislature to deprive the other elective state officers of numerous functions to be carried upon consolidated departments, whose heads would have been appointed by him. Secretary of State Becker, State Auditor Hackman, State Treasurer Thompson and Attorney General Barrett, however, succeeded in blocking part of the plan in the Legislature. The Democratic State organization used up most of the majority by referendum. The re-arrangement as contemplated by this committee as the Legislature might put into effect could mean that the State Finance Department, the powerful inspection departments which are useful political weapons in campaign times at the hands of the commission, the Highway Commission, the Insurance Department and numerous others, one or all might be switched from the Governor's hands to those of the other State officers.

Case of Pardoning Power Proposed.

This committee, of which E. N. Mendenhall is chairman, also has decided that power of the Governor to pardon or parole convicts should be made contingent upon majority recommendation from members of the State Prison Board, and in the case of men serving more than a first term, unanimous recommendation. This has been the practice throughout the Hyde administration, though it is not now required.

Henry B. Coffield, City Counselor of St. Louis, yesterday appeared before the "Taxation Committee" at the session of Joshua W. Alexander of Gallatin, chairman of a subcommittee, and Fred G. Zellig, a delegate from St. Louis, to explain the desires of the city with respect to new provisions in the Constitution. Coffield opposed a proposal from rural members of the convention to restrict municipalities in levying bonds for improvements to not more than 5 per cent of their assessed valuation.

That would be ruinous to St. Louis, Coffield said, as it would prevent the improvement program now being planned, and for which the city has a $77,000,000 bond issue pending. He said the assessed valuation of St. Louis is about $444,000,000. Coffield pointed out. The Constitution at present permits cities to bond up to 10 per cent of their taxes for improvement purposes, which would mean $44,000,000 as

PROCESS FOUND FOR COLORING LIVING TREES

German Engineer Can Permanently Color Entire Tree Within 48 Hours.

By the Associated Press.

DRESDEN, Aug. 25.—A German engineer named Reimann has succeeded in perfecting a process for coloring living trees. It has been found that a whole tree can be completely and permanently colored within 48 hours.

Aniline dye is used and 50 grams of it together with 200 liters of water are sufficient for one tree.

Two Dresden firms have undertaken to exploit the patent. Furniture, cigarette cases, penholders and other articles are to be put on the market made up in the new colored wood. Imitations of certain natural woods are declared possible through the process. American and Dutch concerns are reported to be showing interest in finding markets for the novelties.

The limit in St. Louis. At present St. Louis has outstanding funded debts of $18,967,000, of which $16,333,000 is in debt of the time coming under the 10 per cent limitation. Thus the city will be barely able to issue the desired $7,000,000 bonds under the present limit without a 50 per cent reduction in that maximum.

Favorably Received.

Caulfield was very favorably received on this matter, and likewise on his advocacy that cities be authorized to sell bonds to one per cent of their valuation, to establish revolving funds with which to handle benefit tax bills on special improvements. At present these tax bills are issued against individual property owners and turned over to contractors building sewers, street paving and like improvements. They in turn take them to banks, where they are heavily discounted. The city would sell into improvements, but would constitute a permanent fund, being paid out on projects and then repaid as the property owners on these projects paid their special tax bills to the city.

Three speeches yesterday while the convention was voting down a proposal that the legislature should meet only every fourth year instead of every second year as at present attracted widespread comment and a long and noisy session. The speakers were former Circuit Judge Daniel G. Taylor of St. Louis, Joe J. Hauser of St. Louis, and Mrs. W. W. Martin of Fayette. The convention voted 34 to 33 for the four-year plan, but reconsidered and rescinded the action.

The convention committee on state officers and salaries, of which A. A. Speer of Jefferson City is chairman, today reported to the convention regarding two marked changes and a few others of a minor nature in articles 9, 10, 12 and 14 of the present constitution. One change would confer upon the Governor as the chief conservator of the State's police a power in emergency to suspend executive agents to keep him informed of the health, peace, safety and general welfare of the citizens of the State. "Duty is laid upon the Legislature to appropriate biennially such sums not to exceed $10,000 as the Governor may deem necessary to carry out this purpose, to be known as the 'public safety contingent fund.'"

The Speer report carries two direct conflict of interest reports on the taxation and education committees.

The Speer committee would retain the state board of equalization, an ex-officio board composed of the five major elective state officers and an elective state superintendent of schools. The taxation committee has voted to commit functions of the board of equalization in a constitutional state tax commission and the education committee is expected to favor an appointive superintendent of schools. These conflicts will have to be ironed out by the convention in committee of the whole.

This fund also would be available to the Governor for the payment of "any other expenses in case of emergency he may deem necessary to promote the general welfare of the citizens of the state." This provision would enable the Governor to establish from time to time a temporary organization closely analogous to state constabulary now in use in many states.

Salary Revision Recommended.

Revision of the salaries of the executive state officers by the next Legislature is recommended by the committee. It would prohibit the executive state officers from receiving for their own use fees, costs, perquisites or other compensation. This would separate those officials from the per diem they now receive from a number of ex-officio boards, an indirect way of increasing their salaries in the past. Words are stricken out here and there to enable women to hold the various executive state offices.

The committee on initiative and referendum has decided to recommend only small changes in that section of the constitution. At present the constitution requires signatures of five per cent of the qualified voters of two-thirds of the congressional district for referendum petitions to prevail and not more than eight per cent with the initiative.

POST-DISPATCH JOINS IN BUYING PLANE FOR HINTON

Party Will Resume Flight From New York to Rio, Interrupted by Wreck Off Cuba, From Pensacola.

SISTER PLANE TO FIRST IS OBTAINED

New Machine Purchased by Post-Dispatch, New York World and Andres A. Smith Jr.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The North-to-South America seaplane flight, which failed Tuesday night at Cape Mais, Cuba, is to be resumed without more delay than will be required for turning over to Walter Hinton and his companions of the Sampaio Correia new plane now at Pensacola, Fla.

Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt released this new plane yesterday by sale to the Post-Dispatch and New York World and Andres A. Smith Jr., whose backing made Hinton's venture possible in the first place. Roosevelt has been keenly interested from the very beginning in this flight to Brazil. He has seen in it not only the possibility of great service to aviation, but of placing the record of the closer political and social relations between Brazil and the United States.

Sister Plane to S. C.

When the Sampaio Correia came to grief, and he was appealed to to furnish another plane, he, with Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of the navy, service of the navy, went over the resources of the establishment at once. At the Pensacola station a number of seaplanes of the H-16 type were found. These are sister planes of the Sampaio Correia. One of these immediately was released to the Post-Dispatch and New York World and Smith, and last night notification went forward to Hinton at Guantanamo that his new plane would be ready for him as quickly as the ordnance mountings and radio installation now carried are removed.

As the Post-Dispatch has already told in dispatches from George T. Bye, its staff correspondent aboard the S-C, the entire company has pledged itself to go through with Hinton. These companions are Dr. E. Hinton, the navigator, John Wilkison, mechanician, J. Thomas Balfour, a photographer for the Pathe News, and Mr. Bye.

To Get Plane at Pensacola.

The new plane will be turned over to the Post-Dispatch. There are two reasons for this:

First, it will give the pilots an opportunity to have any desired changes or adjustment made.

Second, and even more important, by taking over the new plane at Pensacola the resumed flight will still be from continent to continent and without the interposition of another crew for even a part of the way.

It is possible that Hinton and his companions will get away from Guantanamo tomorrow by train for Havana. There they will go to Key West by steamer, and from Key West direct to Pensacola. Navy Department officials said last night that the new plane should be ready for them by the time of their arrival.

Those who have been following the progress of the flight most closely are gratified over the news that it was not to be abandoned. It has stirred an extraordinary interest in its sporting aspect, in its scientific promise, and in its political and economic potentialities.

CAPPER'S BILL AGAINST BRANCH BANKING INTRODUCED IN SENATE

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The establishment of branches of the national banks, except in states specifically authorizing them, would be prohibited under a bill introduced yesterday by Senator Capper, Republican of Kansas. The bill provides that any banking house affected by the change in the law must close within 30 days after passage of the act and liquidate its affairs.

Senator Capper said there was strong sentiment in many Middle Western states against branch banking, explaining that the country bankers feel that their existence is threatened by the encroachment of metropolitan banks on the small town business. He added the provision allowing the extension of branch national banks in states where laws so provide allows for an option by all states, but he did not believe that many states, especially in agricultural sections of the country, would permit branch banking.

CRITICISM IN SENATE OF HUGHES' NEWBERRY LETTER

Reed Declares Record Can't Be Obliterated by Secretary "Dipping Brush in Legal Whitewash."

CALLS SEATING OF SENATOR INDEFENSIBLE

Republicans "Made Decoy Duck of the Preacher" in the Case, Robinson of Arkansas Charges.

The Post-Dispatch Bureau.

20 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Sharp criticism of the recent action of Secretary of State Hughes in coming to the defense of Senator Newberry, for whom he was counsel before the Supreme Court flared up on the Democratic side in the Senate yesterday. Senators Reed of Missouri, who was prominent in the fight against the seating of Newberry, Pomeroy of Ohio, Walsh of Montana, Robinson of Arkansas, Owen of Oklahoma, Ashurst of Arizona and Heflin of Alabama joined in the attack.

Referring to the Senate resolution which, while seating Newberry, condemned the expenditure of excessive sums in an election as being "dangerous to the perpetuity of a free government," Senator Reed declared that the finding of the Senate could not be obliterated even though the Secretary of State should "dip his brush in a hoghead of legal whitewash."

Can't Obliterate Record.

"He may split all the legal hairs he desires," said Reed, "but the American people will take the finding of the Senate as conclusive evidence that the practices employed in the election of Mr. Newberry were improper practices and that those who voted to seat him are having regretted that he had secured his place by methods contrary to sound public policy branded themselves so indelibly that the legal whitewash brush of the Secretary of State can never wipe out that record nor obliterate that stain."

"It seems to me that if I had voted for such a resolution; if I had voted for such an epitaph to my own honor, or if I had characterized my vote in advance as an infamous and indefensible vote, I would keep silent. I would not introduce the subject again. I would hope that the dust of time might obliterate it or blot it out of the records of eternity. One of the things that a lawyer seems to be the maxim of the learned Secretary of State."

Sensor Edge of New Jersey, Republican, started the controversy by placing the record of the defense of Newberry made by Secretary Hughes in a letter to a New Jersey minister. Reed said it was plain that the Republican Campaign Committee, which gave out the letter for publication, was therefore willfully bringing the letter was a good campaign document.

"Preacher Decoy Duck."

"They made a decoy duck of the preacher," put in Senator Robinson. "They employed the preacher to get the letter," agreed Reed, "but I have no doubt that the Secretary of State knew when he wrote the letter would be put, because it is inconceivable that as busy a man as he is would have taken the trouble otherwise to have written a brief on the case, which is what this letter is. The thing was undoubtedly arranged and the letter was sprung by the Republican National Committee at the particular moment it was given to the public for the purpose of affecting the election."

Sensor Edge deprecated what he saw as an attempt to asperse the minister's motives.

"The question of fee," replied Reed, "was only mentioned in connection with Mr. Hughes' fee, he having been counsel in the case, and no complaint is made about that. I presume the Secretary received a very good fee. I hope he did. I think it was a case where he ought to have received a good fee. He seems to have been willing to render his client very effective and good service in court, and he appears to be willing to continue that service after the case has been decided."

Not Criticizing Minister.

"I am not criticizing the minister. The Senator (Edge) states that he may have not been asked to write this letter. I presume that is true, and can see why the Republican National Committee would want to have a minister write this letter. It would for the first time give an odor of sanctity to this case if the counsel of the minister of the gospel."

Reed said that the letter of the Secretary of State was aimed only at one point, namely, that the Supreme Court held that Newberry was not guilty of a criminal offense. This not guilty of a criminal offense, by a majority of one vote, by which majority

The Court declared that an act of Congress was unconstitutional. This action of the Court, he said, went no further than to hold that Congress did not have the jurisdiction to enact a positive statute making a crime of something which was already morally wrong.

"The question which will be determined by the electorate of the United States," Reed continued, "is not whether a certain statute was constitutional or unconstitutional, or whether the Court erred in applying the law of the case, but whether acts were committed in that election of so grave a nature that the acts should be entitled to a seat in this body."

Question Not Answered.

"That question is not answered by Secretary Hughes' letter. He made no attempt to answer it, but, with the skill of a very skillful special pleader, he avoids it while apparently, to the casual reader, answering it."

"Since publication of the letter by Secretary Hughes," said Robinson, "many have asserted that his attitude discloses a lawyer's appreciation to his client for a lucrative fee rather than a public official's sense of duty and responsibility to his government."

Attention was called by Senator Pomeroy to the fact that the letter was published on Monday morning, the day of the Democratic and Republican conventions in Ohio. He reviewed the evidence given before the Senate investigating committee, which showed that Frederick P. Smith, the candidate about the heavy drafts, "on the Newberry account," as evidence that Newberry knew all that was being done. It was very significant, he said, that the books of accounts of the Newberry campaign committee were either lost or destroyed, and significant also that the Republican members of the Senate investigating committee, headed by Spencer of Missouri, refused to allow subpoena to be issued for the officials of the banks in which the Newberry funds were kept.

Sensor Owen Reviews Case.

Going back into the history of the fight over the peace treaty and the league of nations, Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, recalled that the day of the Democratic and Republican conventions in Ohio. He reviewed the evidence given before the Senate investigating committee, which showed that Frederick P. Smith, the candidate about the heavy drafts, "on the Newberry account," as evidence that Newberry knew all that was being done. It was very significant, he said, that the books of accounts of the Newberry campaign committee were either lost or destroyed, and significant also that the Republican members of the Senate investigating committee, headed by Spencer of Missouri, refused to allow subpoena to be issued for the officials of the banks in which the Newberry funds were kept.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform; never tolerate injustice or corruption; always fight for the rights of the people; never belong to any party; always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers; never lack sympathy with the poor; always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely political aims; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Or Enforce the Present Ones.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
 It is any wonder murder and robbery are committed on all sides when the murderers and robbers are pardoned and paroled by judges and governors. And no one is imprisoned in the penitentiary for carrying concealed weapons? Why doesn't the State Legislature pass the following laws to protect life and property:

Abolish all parole and pardon laws. Make murder punishable by death, unless it is shown by the defendant that the victim had a dangerous weapon; make highway robbery and burglary punishable by a 25-year term in the penitentiary and the carrying of concealed weapons punishable by a term of two years in the penitentiary instead of other punishment.

Require every applicant for an automobile and truck license to take out a $10,000 insurance policy before receiving the license. Require all motor vehicles to have a warning device attached to their machines so they can be heard half a block away; regulate speed to five miles an hour in congested districts, 10 miles an hour in residential districts, and 20 miles an hour in other districts; and have a speed regulator attached to every machine to make more than 20 miles an hour impossible; also colored lights to denote speed, as in California; larger license numbers, kept clean and illuminated at night so they can be read half a block away.

Penalties for first violation of traffic and all other automobile laws should be a $100 fine; for second violation, revocation of license for six months; and for third violation, revocation of license for all time and a penitentiary term of two years for operating a motor vehicle after revocation of license.

If we had the above laws to protect the people of this State from murderers, robbers and automobile maniacs, people would feel safe when going out on the street and life and property would be safe.

There is no good reason why the State Legislature or Constitution Committee should not put these laws upon the statute books, as they would protect everybody.

Bureau Police Officers.

OUR law states that every citizen is held innocent until proven guilty. The other night I saw two plain clothes men approach a man and calling him names which I am ashamed to mention told him he was under arrest. Later as I watched them walking to the box I saw one of them strike him. Can not something be done to remedy this sort of thing in St. Louis? Can not the police or moral requirement for this position be raised higher in order to keep such men as these out of so important an office as that of detective?

That "Free" Rent.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
 A COUPLE of days ago I called on a real estate agent regarding renting a West End apartment. He finally offered to give me the last two months' rent free, equal to a reduction of about $20 per month, if I would take a year's lease at present rental. On inquiry I find both the lease and rebate agreement would be invalid. If this isn't fraud on its face, what is? Yet I understand it is a common practice to make a burer believe income is in excess of actual rental. Is not this a matter for the Prosecuting Attorney?

WEST ENDER.

Rebo Answers "Who."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
 THE wheels of progress grind in every clime and age. That turns fair history's page. But as we strive for better things—For pure ideal life—Who stops to lift from out his gloom The worker in the mine?

A. HUNT.

"Reductions" in Parking Cost.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
 AS for the 25 per cent reduction in street improvement cost which I see in the daily papers every once in a while it seems to me is just a boost for the street contractors and a soporific for the public. The proof is here, so everyone can investigate it for him or herself.

Two years ago Nishio street was improved with bituminous asphalt when war prices prevailed. This year we were told that prices were 25 per cent cheaper so we asked to have our street (Nishio) improved with the same material, both streets being in the same neighborhood, parallel with each other, and both being the same width. The only difference is that Nishio has a concrete curbing. I am told the concrete costs less than the other one.

Now for the cost. Nishio figured a little less than $7.50 per front foot and ours costs us $7.50 per front foot. What I would like to know is where that 25 per cent reduction comes in—maybe some time in the next generation when we are all dead and buried.

THAT GAS SURPLUS.

Post-war inflation in gas rates in St. Louis has run its course. The books of the Laclede Gas Co., as told exclusively in the Post-Dispatch yesterday, disclose the happy results of decreased operating costs, including salary, wage, coal and other reductions, since the present rate schedule went into effect in April, 1921. That rate schedule rescued the company from the brink of bankruptcy, to which it declared it had been pushed 18 months ago. The company has accumulated a surplus of $548,000 over the fair rate of return, as determined by the Public Service Commission, and the common stock of the company has advanced since last January from 45 to the high point of 52.

The Laclede Gas Co.'s prosperity, as indicated in the advance of its common stock, is solidly vouched for by its net earnings during the first six months of the present year, which exceeded by $201,494 the 7 per cent return on the fair valuation of $21,000,000 as fixed by the Public Service Commission. This excess earning is at the rate of $600,000 a year. It is an income unjustifiably taken from the pockets of St. Louis gas consumers, according to the Public Service Commission's own audit.

The present rates were granted for a period of 13 months, which expired last May. Formal application was made by the company at that time for an extension and was allowed by the Public Service Commission, presumably without competent examination, or comprehension, by the commission of the company's finances. In any event, this surplus of more than half a million dollars represents the cost to St. Louis gas consumers of the Public Service Commission's negligence or incapacity.

The Laclede Gas Co. is to be congratulated on the handsome success of its retrenchment efforts—a success to which the Post-Dispatch contributed substantially by its exposure of the preposterous coal contract. That contract, it is now officially acknowledged, has been revised downward, and this revision has helped materially in the reduction of costs and the creation of the surplus. But the company's attitude regarding reductions of rates, as reflected by President Holman's reply to a question by a reporter for the Post-Dispatch, is not a subject for congratulation. "Inasmuch as rates of public utilities in Missouri are under the control of the Public Service Commission," said Mr. Holman, "we feel that the initiative in any rate reduction should come from some other quarter." The Post-Dispatch holds the contrary opinion. In view of the company's exclusive knowledge of its excessive earnings, the initiative for rate reduction, it seems to us, might properly and commendably have come from the company.

As it happens, the initiative for a reduction in gas rates comes from the alertness of the Post-Dispatch in discovering the Laclede Gas Co.'s surplus of $548,000 and interpreting the meaning of that surplus. The meaning of that surplus, it should be emphasized, is not confined to the obvious equity of lower gas rates. The facts explaining this surplus should impress upon the Public Service Commission not only the justice of a prompt reduction in gas rates, but also the necessity of frequent examination of all public utility rates authorized and renewed by the commission on the representation of peak operating costs.

Eternal vigilance on the part of the Public Service Commission seems to be the price of fair public utility rates to the public.

REFORM BY REFERENDUM.

The referendum in motion picture censorship recently had its initial tryout at Chautauqua, source of many naive innovations. Among the excitements at Chautauqua are movies several nights a week. There has been more or less complaint that the pictures lacked the uplift which is the dominant Chautauqua motif. The answer was that the committee was picking the best that the film magazines had to offer, and if it was uplift that was wanted, they would have to look elsewhere for it.

The climax came the other night, after the second reel, when there was a demand for the suppression of the other four or five reels. A referendum vote was taken. It lost. Fancy a movie audience, after two reels, voting to quit right there and never know how it ends.

No, it didn't work out, and it never will if the vote is taken before the audience has seen "the end." A referendum should wait until the entire picture has been shown. It is quite likely that an audience having seen an entire film would vote to suppress it, but not before seeing it, or after seeing part of it.

There are fields of entertainment and enlightenment in which the interim referendum might be perhaps invoked successfully, as for instance after the second verse of a song or after the second hour of a speech, or after the "secondly" of a sermon. Part of the song or a speech or a sermon may be as good as the whole, if not better, but it is too much to expect an audience, after seeing a part of a wicked film, to deprive itself of the opportunity of finding out just how wicked the remainder is.

The Paterson preacher who wrote to Secretary Hughes for the facts in the Newberry case did not get them, but he will have better luck if he writes to Senator Spencer for the Newberry fiction.

CRUSHING UNIONISM.

The conference of the railroad executives and the brotherhood chiefs having failed to effect peace, the next move is President Harding's, in the judgment of David Lawrence, a special correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. It is argued that the shophmen have unquestionably been placed in the position of asking for reinstatement, that they are now at a serious tactical disadvantage, and that if the President should renew his proposition of submitting all questions to the Labor Board, including seniority, the strikers would likely accept it.

This view of the situation fails to take into account the present negotiations between a group of railroads and the brotherhood chiefs, with a view to individual agreements. It has one apparent merit, however: It is another peace effort. Meanwhile, one confusion ought to be cleared away, namely, Mr. Jewell's statement that the railroad executives, in refusing to comply with the terms of the brotherhood chiefs, are evidently determined to smash labor unionism and destroy collective bargaining. If the reactionaries among the railroad executives entertain such a hope they are deluding themselves. It may be granted that, if the strikers yield in the matter of seniority, the railroad executives will have forged a potent weapon against further strikes, but that would be far from meaning that unionism has been crushed or collective bargaining destroyed.

Apart from the question of seniority both sides have, conditionally, to be sure, accepted the President's proposal to submit all the issues of the present strike to the Labor Board. Suppose that acceptance were unconditional and suppose, further, it included the question of seniority! Would unionism be crushed and collective bargaining destroyed? By no means. Under such a plan unionism would have its day in court, precisely as the railroad executives; it would stand on the plane of absolute equality with the railroad executives before the law.

The truth is that the President's plan is predicated upon responsible unionism. Without such unionism the Labor Board could not function as contemplated by the law and the President.

The inventor of the ukulele died in Hawaii the other day. By remaining away from the United States, he was able to reach the age of 80.

WOOD ALCOHOLICS.

The National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness reports 130 deaths and 23 cases of blindness from wood alcohol during the first six months of this year. The secretary of the committee explains, further, that those figures are incomplete. The relatives of victims, in the fatality cases, she says, often conceal the real cause of death, while deterioration of vision from wood alcohol is frequently a gradual process which makes it difficult to compile accurate records.

The statistics as given, however, are grim enough to merit attention. And attention is, or should be, focused on them by comparison with pre-prohibition times, when the ravages of wood alcohol were negligible. The point of it is that prohibition is a many-sided adventure, with liabilities as well as assets. That is a "damned spot" which refuses to "out."

Europe, be it noted, is letting all its worthless politicians live.

PANETELA.

YES, Luella.
 On the railroads.
 Things have plainly
 Passed the worst.
 Looks as if
 The other fellows
 Got their union
 Rusted first.
 Anyhow,
 A lot of railroads,
 Bidding Wall street
 Go its way,
 Are disposed
 To make agreements
 In the best way
 That they may.

Thus, perhaps,
 Is indicated
 Peace upon
 A hundred fronts.
 Seemingly
 We have too many
 Of these
 Centralizing stunts.
 Anyway,
 You touch the button
 Distant how far
 Heaven knows.
 And to everyone's
 Amusement,
 Absolutely
 Nothing goes!

What the trouble
 Is, my dearie,
 Let us hope
 Is clearly seen:
 Industry,
 Despite mechanics,
 Cannot be
 A mere machine.
 After all,
 We're human beings.
 Each a wildcat
 In his way,
 And the warlike
 Genius homo
 Always has
 To have his say.

Acting for
 The other fellow.
 Whether dividends
 Or bread,
 Never in our
 Poor opinion
 Gets us very Far ahead.
 Wherefore
 In the present
 Matter,
 While the buttonpushers
 Shout,
 Both employers
 And employees
 Are politely
 Walking out.

So we have
 Sweet Luella:
 Like as not
 The human horde
 Never was designed
 By Nature
 To be something
 Like a Ford.
 What though rigged
 With patent starters
 And in dreams
 The same as trucks.
 When you come
 To press the button,
 Lo, it never
 Goes for shucks!

Mr. Harding has concluded that he is useless in the railroad emergency, which makes it unanimous.

Sir: While our intellectual athletes in Washington, a bit out of training maybe because there has been little need of real effort to keep Mexico and Haiti in their places, are tackling a first-class opponent in Mr. Balfour, and no doubt perspiring freely, may we not, in this dwelling place of light and learning, turn our minds towards consideration of the use the same Mr. Balfour makes of the plural in the phrase, "the most perfect courtesy and in the exercise of their undoubted rights the American Government have required?" We would write "its" and "has," instead of "their" and "have" and if it were only a question of grammar it would be unimportant. But doesn't the question go to the very foundations of our attitude towards government? When we use the singular in referring to the Interstate Commerce Commission, or Federal Reserve Board, or Children's Bureau, or the Government of the United States, we unconsciously visualize impersonal machines. Where we use the plural, the picture would be of a body of men, probably not in complete agreement, each affected, as we all are, by his environment, state of health, trouble with wooden clubs, poor partners at bridge, cost of living and other personal interests, and this, of course, would be the true one. Incidentally, the discussion might be of help to our Jamie in his effort to bring home to us the fact that government is carried on by individuals. We do not make the mistake of thinking otherwise in our local affairs; we do not curse or praise the city government; when we train our guns or say it with flowers, we pick out particular individuals. That is the reason our city government, with all its faults—most of which are due to our own perfumery and lack of appreciation—is so much more economical than the national. It is curious to think of Mr. Balfour helping our Jamie. But, on pondering this over, one concludes that, at one time or another, that is our common fate.

A conspiracy of silence against the man who is trying to beat Senator Lodge in the Massachusetts primaries is said by a correspondent to one of the New York papers to be noticeable in the press of the Bay State, notwithstanding this affront is offered by a former Speaker of the Massachusetts House and a Republican in excellent standing for anything else. This correspondent sure one reads more in the London papers about the campaign than one reads in Boston, which shows pretty well what the political proprietors are in Massachusetts.

Sir: As I once said to you, how glad you ought to be to have such an untrammelled position in a city like St. Louis. Certainly the remarks of Secretary in last night's paper sum up the exact condition today, and these remarks, too, will fit us all for a better time. Indeed, we are not going back, but it has taken several lines of effort to get as far as we have. It is a great comfort, too, to read the words of those who also knew the world's drift.

STATE RIGHTS AND DUTIES.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE new doctrine that it is the duty of courts to protect States against possible injury resulting from somebody selling something in competition with something for which the State is famous is preached by the Wisconsin Supreme Court in its decision upholding the validity of the Wisconsin law to prohibit the manufacture and sale of filled milk. The legislation is upheld on the principle that it was designed to protect the reputation of the State for its dairy products as against adulteration and misleading representations. A law compelling the manufacturers of filled milk to label their product plainly would protect Wisconsin against any injury to reputation through misleading representation. The law the Wisconsin Supreme Court upholds was drafted, avowedly, to kill competition. It was a law to prohibit the manufacture of a product which was regarded as inferior by the milk trade because it was sold widely. Kentucky had a reputation for excellent whisky, in the period when distilling was sanctioned by law. Kentucky law years ago prohibiting brewing and distribution of beer, upon the ground that beer was an inferior beverage with nothing like the kick of good Kentucky whisky, would have been in the spirit of the Wisconsin antitilled milk bill. A decision of the Kentucky Court of Appeals that the sale of Kentucky of beer that made Milwaukee famous could but diminish the fame, and possibly the dignity of a distilling State would have been tantamount to the decision of the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

THE DUTY ON WOOL.

It is hard to arouse any great interest in such a dry and apparently abstract subject as the duty on wool. It will not prove so hard when the duty begins to show up in higher prices for clothing. For the Senate is proposing duties on the cheaper grades of wool that will run above 150 per cent. On these duties there is a combination of Eastern and Western interests. The Senators from the sheep raising States are voting for a high duty on manufactured woolen products in return for the votes of Senators from the manufacturing States for an excessive duty on raw wool. These two blocs, with their power of trading, can control the situation. Suppose Senator Johnson of California should protest. The bloc would once smash the high protection he has obtained on California citrus fruits. Every Senator with a pet industry to look after is in the same boat. The tariff bill is becoming a combination of special interests with the public forgotten. That was the situation with the Payne-Aldrich bill of 1909. The public was forgotten while the bill was being made. But the public kicked in the door of the Capitol and the White House after it appeared what had happened.

THRESHER KEEPS RIVER OPEN
It Takes Place of Draw Machinery at Bridge.

It is the first time that a thresher has been used to keep navigation open.

Passengers on up-river steamboats have been poking fun at a threshing machine engine which seems to be stranded in the middle of the Alton railroad bridge, far from the wheat fields. But if it were not for the thresher engine the boats would stop there. The draw machinery is being repaired and the thresher engine takes its place in turning the wheels that turn the draw. It makes more smoke and runs than the regular machinery, but it opens and closes the draw, which is what counts.

Man Found Dead From Gas.

William Wiese, 48 years old, of 1908 A Warren street, a widower, was found dead on the kitchen floor of his home at 3 p. m. yesterday. A rubber hose in his mouth and the other end attached to a small gas stove, with the gas turned on. August Woechner, 3 brother-in-law with whom Wiese lived, told the police Wiese had been despondent since the death of his wife two years ago and lately had been out of work.

Plane Smash Over Lake Kills Two.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Aug. 25.—Lieut. Reeves of San Diego, was instantly killed and Clarence William Green, his mechanic, suffered fatal injuries, when their army airplane was caught in an air-pocket while flying at Elsinore, near here, yesterday, and plunged into Lake Elsinore.

labored "so constantly and assiduously, day and night, mind and heart," to compose differences between warring industrial factions.

He added that responsibility for the failure to end the strikes rested neither with the President nor Congress, but that blame attached to both parties to the controversy. Both Senators Cummins and Borah asserted that the President had no power to compel an agreement. Borah held also that Congress had no power under the Constitution to enact legislation compelling a settlement and a similar view was expressed by Senator Shields, Democrat, of Tennessee.

Unionism Assailed.

Senator Nelson, Republican, of Minnesota, expressed the opinion that the "whole trouble was unionism."

"Gentlemen here seem to be afraid to meet the real issue, but that is the real issue," he declared. "There is no use of sidestepping this matter. You are all afraid to say anything about the unions."

Replying, Senator Cummins declared that it ought to be a crime for employees to strike when the Government undertook to adjudicate for them the justice of a dispute. He added that in his opinion this was a final remedy for such conditions as those now existing.

"I don't think," he declared, "that our civilization can long endure if a body of artisans, embracing all in one industry, can leave their employment by concert and conspiracy at the same time. I would be the last man to take away the right to quit, to leave work, except when the Government attempts to give those employees the justice they hoped to achieve."

Resinol
cleared away that skin trouble

"I had suffered from eczema so long I didn't believe anything would overcome it, but the first time I used Resinol it stopped the itching, and now my skin is entirely clear."

This is the experience of those who have used Resinol and know that its gentle, healing materials seldom fail to overcome skin troubles. Resinol

WHAT DID YOU SEE TODAY?

Volunteer Reporters Tell the Post-Dispatch of the Interesting, Unusual and Often Humorous Incidents They Encounter.

IND hearts are more than coronets, Tennyson tells us. It is also happily true that they are more numerous than coronets. There are others besides Boy Scouts who make their rule to do somebody a good turn every day, or oftener. A good turn incidents, written by Post-Dispatch readers, have been printed in the What-Did-You-See department; others have not been printed, because it has been felt that such deeds should be so common as to pass without note. However, the spirit of kindness is one that is easily forgotten, and such incidents should be as interesting as chronicles of human blindness and ineptitudes. A few such paragraphs lead today's section.

POOR HELP THE POOR.

A scraggy woman in St. Patrick's Church, Sixth and Bidwell, picked up a dime on the floor, the full length of the church.

sonous. I got some gum from the machine, and began chewing it, whereupon the woman looked amazed and gave the child a penny to buy another "mothball."
MRS. GEORGE HELLMAN,
4216A Armstrong avenue.

RIVER FASHIONS.

The Golden Eagle passes through the locks at Kampsville, Ill., about 3 in the morning, but a number of the passengers are "always on deck to see the working of the locks. On a recent trip I saw one woman dressed in night clothes, a kimono and a street hat.

W. F. COOLIDGE,
2225D Granite City.

LIKE MARGUERITE

A middle-aged man sat in the street car plucking the petals from a sun flower, and repeating over and over, "She loves me, she loves me not." At the last petal "she loved him not," and he disgustedly threw the shorn flower into the street, while passengers laughed.

IRENE HEINRICH,
4266 Castleman avenue.

IN THE SKY.

While I was buying tickets at an air-drome a woman ahead of me asked for two tickets upstairs.
MRS. E. SCHROER,
1907 Benton street.

A LOLLAPOP HOUND.

While coming home on a Cass car I saw a man deeply interested in Burgess Bedtime Stories, and at the same time chewing away on a plug of candy, known throughout kidland as an "all-day sucker."

J. CRINNION,
4036 St. Louis avenue.

NO TIME TO LOSE.

Two women on an eastbound Olive car attracted general attention by their industrious though peculiar method of passing the time required in the ride downtown. One dictated business letters to the other, who busily wrote in shorthand during the entire trip.

CREDIT POST-DISPATCH MILK AND ICE FUND.

NOT OUR AFFAIR.

Two automobiles, laden with baggage, crashed near Fairground Park. I learned that both cars came originally from Chicago, and that one was touring to California, while the other was returning from that State.
R. H. LEED,
814 South Vandeventer avenue.

LIKE ROSEN'S SPIRE.

After a heavy rain, I paused at the corner of Fourth and Olive, and looked westward up Olive street. A mist half filled the canon between the skyscrapers, the vista ending in a slight curve in Olive just beyond Twelfth, boulevard. The big buildings looked a bit unsubstantial in the fog, and the big Post-Dispatch radio tower loomed up at the end of the canon, lending the scene a distinctly Gothic touch. It would have been a fine scene for Pennell or our own Hugh Ferriss.

A. C. H.,
412 Union boulevard.

NOT A CONDUCTOR.

I saw a negro woman hastily taking the hairpins out of her hair. The low rumbling of thunder suggested a shower. She explained that she didn't intend to "get struck by no old lightning!"
SYLVIA BOELHAUF,
4015A North Ninth street.

MAJESTY OF LAW.

I saw an officer arrest a man in a small Missouri town. Upon reaching the calaboose, he discovered that he had no key. Telling the man to wait at the door until he went up-town and procured a key, he left. When he returned, the prisoner was sitting faithfully on the jail steps, waiting.

J. C. SMITH,
Bonne Terra, Mo.
(Credit Pure Milk and Ice Fund.)

SAFETY SECOND.

A northbound Broadway car failed to stop at the railroad crossing leading from the Lemp brewery, and after the car had crossed, the conductor ran through, got off the rear end, looked up and down the track, and whistled to go ahead.
EARL PALLAS,
7334 Vermont avenue.

COOL-TIME.

I was at a friend's house when she came home from shopping. She looked for her alarm clock in the kitchen, and discovered she had placed it inside the ice box on the ice while she left the apple sauce outside, in her hurry to get downtown.

MRS. LIBERTY,
2403 Cora avenue.

AN APPLE VINE.

I saw an apple tree which had sprouted in a cellar. In growing toward the light it had grown through the outside cellar window. The owner fastened the branches to the wall of the house, where it grew flat like a vine. It is now about 8 feet tall, and has borne one apple.
GRACE NEWTON,
4581 Gates avenue.

A MISTER-Y.

The sweet young thing walked down the avenue in knickers. An elderly man approached and said, "Mister, I beg your pardon, but you dropped your handkerchief."

2457 Crittenden street.

BONUS ATTACKED AND DEFENDED IN SENATE DEBATE

"You Cannot Measure Service in Dollars," Says Underwood of Alabama, the Democratic Leader.

PROPAGANDA AGAINST MEASURE CHARGED

"War Profiteers Are Fighting the Bill to the Death," Declares Senator Heflin, in Rejoinder.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The soldier bonus bill received but little attention yesterday in the Senate. In the brief debate, Senator Underwood of Alabama, Democratic leader, voiced his opposition to the measure with Senator Heflin, Democrat, of the same State, vigorously urging its passage.

Senator Underwood declared the measure was not an adjusted compensation bill, that it had been properly named by the public—a bonus bill.

"Can't be Measured in Dollars." "You cannot measure service in dollars," declared the minority leader. "If you are to measure service in that way, then $225 is an absurd proposition."

The Alabama Senator said there was an obligation of the Government to take care of the sick, disabled and needy, in old age, but that there was no obligation to give a pittance "to the others, many of whom did not need it."

Senator Heflin, supporting the bill, declared that those opposing the bill had not made a "peep" when Congress was voting millions in the settlement of claims of war contractors. He charged that "war profiteers were fighting the bill to the death" and that "the interests" were filling the newspapers with the greatest propaganda against the measure that had been attempted since war days.

"Demand Justice for Them." "Asserting that hundreds of thousands of former service men were now without jobs, Senator Heflin declared that there could be no talk about 'cheapening' a man's patriotism when hunger demanded that 'he get something to eat and a place to sleep.'"

"I voted to call these men to the colors," continued the Senator, "and so help me God, as long as I have breath to speak I shall demand justice for them."

Harding, Writing to Veterans, Reiterates Stand on Bonus.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
EMPORIA, Kan., Aug. 20.—President Harding has not changed his stand on the soldiers' bonus question, according to a letter from the President received by Roland E. Boynton, County Attorney and veteran of the Rainbow Division. Boynton wrote the President asking him if he is opposed to the bonus as stated in recent newspaper stories. Mr. Harding said he has been misquoted in the stories, but he has not changed his attitude and still is of the opinion that no bonus should be granted unless a sales tax is established or some other means of raising the funds is evolved.

CONVENTION OF INTERNATIONAL ROTARY CLUBS HERE NEXT YEAR
Gathering Expected to Attract Between 12,000 and 15,000 Delegates and Visitors.

The convention of the International Rotary Clubs of the World, to be held in St. Louis, June 18-26 next year, is expected to attract between 12,000 and 15,000 delegates and visitors, representing 30 countries, Tom Riggers, secretary of the St. Louis Rotary Club, said today.
It was made known at the office of Chesley Perry, international secretary at Chicago, yesterday, that St. Louis had been chosen as the place for the next convention over Detroit because of the accommodations here. This choice gives St. Louis one of the largest conventions it has ever had. A committee under Hiram C. Martin of St. Louis, chairman of the International Executive Committee, and members of the Convention Bureau of Rotary Clubs, already have formed preliminary plans for the reception and entertainment of the visitors. Twelve thousand reservations have been made in hotels and the Municipal Opera and Forest Park Highlands will be reserved for two nights each. An elaborate frolic is planned for the two nights the delegates will be entertained at the Highlands.

Martin said at least one shipload of delegates would be sent from England. The meeting here next year will be the first international convention of Rotarians held in the Central States in five years. The 1922 convention was held in Los Angeles. The members of Martin's committee are Herman Spoehrer, president of the local club; Percy Redmond, Fred Drost, George Tector, and George R. Merrell.

REED DENOUNCED AT MASS MEETING OF KU KLUX KLAN

United States Senator Called "Un-American" at Gathering Held on Farm Near Independence, Mo.

INITIATION GIVEN
687 NEW MEMBERS

Motor Cars Parked in Semi-Circle About Natural Amphitheater — Fiery Cross Is Raised.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KANSAS CITY, Aug. 25.—United States Senator James A. Reed will be the target of the Ku-Klux Klan of Missouri at the polls this fall, according to the expression of Klansmen at a State mass meeting on a farm near Independence, Mo., last night.

Senator Reed was denounced from the platform by robed speakers as "un-American." The platform was built on a lowland surrounded by hillsides, which made a natural amphitheater. The hillsides were a solid mass of men.

The ever-present fiery cross—symbol of the mystic empire—blazed on a hilltop overlooking the crowd. A class of 387 new members was put through the initiatory work.

Thousands of Autos.
The line of automobiles from Kansas City and other points began passing through Independence shortly after 6 p. m. A road leading from Independence to the scene of the meeting, more than two miles, was a solid line of automobiles—four abreast—until after 10 o'clock. Nearly 6000 cars entered the gates of a large field adjacent to the meeting.

On all sides there were motor cars, parked in a semicircle. For the most part the throng was in shirt sleeves, although here and there were white-robed figures giving commands. On the outskirts were silent watchmen, wearing the long gowns bearing the insignia of the fiery cross.

"Building Better Manhood."
A man was speaking from the platform. Now and then the crowd cheered. From a distance he could be heard to say, "The Klan will make you better Americans, better husbands and better citizens. We are building up a better manhood on American soil."

Then he asked of the assembly, "Why don't you get together and vote intelligently? Not as Democrats or Republicans, but as Americans."

After other statements the speaker was heard to say: "We stand absolutely square for the free public schools system; we stand for a free press, free speech, just laws and the pursuit of happiness." After other remarks, the class of candidates, which had been near the platform, appeared to filter back through the crowd.

Red Cross Is Lighted.
A few minutes later the red cross was lighted. As its glare was noticed hundreds of hands raised toward the sky. The ceremony virtually was ended.

At the conclusion of the principal part of the ceremony, flashlight photographs of the gathering were taken.
Almost as silently as they had appeared, the hundreds of motor cars moved away into the night.

DENIAL THAT POPE EXPRESSED DISAPPROVAL OF PASSION PLAY

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Aug. 25.—Reports that Pope Pius had expressed displeasure over the manner in which the Passion Play at Oberammergau was being conducted brought forth a statement yesterday from Vatican circles that His Holiness had had no occasion to signify his approval or disapproval of the Bavarian production.

$65,000 Sought for Arm.
Suit for $65,000 damages for the loss of his right arm was filed yesterday in the St. Louis Circuit Court by William M. Marshall of Anderson, Ind., a brakeman, against the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway. He states that on Aug. 14, when he was uncoupling two cars on a freight train near Anderson, his arm was crushed, making amputation necessary. The company is charged with negligence in failing, it is alleged, to have the cars equipped with automatic impact couplings, as required by law.

SEVEREID AND McMANUS BAT BROWNS TO 3-1 VICTORY IN 1ST GAME

By Dent McSkimming,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Urban Shocker today pitched one of the most brilliant games of his career in repulsing the Yankees in the first game of the double-header. The score was 3 to 1. A crowd of approximately 40,000 attended.

It was Shocker's fourth victory of the season against the Yankees. He has lost five games to them. While Hoyt, pitching for the Yankees, was touched for eight hits in eight innings. Only in the second and sixth innings was he scored upon. Severeid's triple scored Jacobson in the second inning, while the sixth, Foster and Slaters singled. Jacobson walked, and McManus' single scored two runs. The Browns maintained their record of at least ten hits in every game since leaving home.

Kemp Williams failed to get a hit in four times at bat, and his record of consecutive games in which he has hit was broken. He had run the total to 23.

The Yanks made a strong stand in the ninth, when Dugan singled with a single to center, and both followed with a single off McManus' glove. Meusel's single scored Dugan, but Ward failed with the tying run on first base.

FIRST INNING.
BROWNS—Tobin was called out on strikes. Foster rolled to Dugan. Slaters drew a base on balls. Slaters' single scored Jacobson. Jacobson grounded to Pipp. NO RUNS.

NEW YORK—Witt singled over second. Dugan fanned. Ruth also fanned. Severeid holding on to his only tip for the first strike. McManus tossed out Pipp. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING.
BROWNS—Jacobson singled to right. Dugan threw out McManus. Jacobson going to second. Severeid singled to center, scoring Jacobson. Jacobson popped to Ward. Shocker tried to Witt. ONE RUN.

NEW YORK—Schang beat out a tip to Slaters. Meusel popped to Seiber. Ward singled to right. Schang stopping at second. Scott scored Ward. Gerber to McManus. Schang pulling up at third. Hoyt fanned. Slaters to Gerber. Rain fell at this stage, but not sufficient to interrupt the game. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING.
BROWNS—Tobin filed to Ruth. Seiber filed to Meusel. Slaters singled to center. Williams filed to Witt. NO RUNS.

NEW YORK—Witt lined to McManus. Foster tossed out Dugan. Ruth out. Slaters to Shocker, who covered the bag. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING.
BROWNS—Jacobson fouled to Schang. Meusel was against the left field fence when he took McManus' drive. Ward tossed out Severeid. NO RUNS.

NEW YORK—Pipp singled to right. Schang sacrificed. Severeid to Slaters. In coming in on Schang's tip, Foster hurt his injured right leg, but hobbled back to third and continued to play. Meusel tapped to Pipp. Pipp was run out. Foster to McManus. Meusel out stealing. Severeid to McManus. NO RUNS.

FIFTH INNING.
BROWNS—Gerber popped to Pipp. Dugan threw out Shocker. Tobin out. Pipp unassisted. NO RUNS.

NEW YORK—Gerber tossed out Ward. Scott filed to Jacobson. Hoyt fanned. NO RUNS.

SIXTH INNING.
BROWNS—Foster singled down the left-field foul line. Slaters singled to center. Foster to Witt, and second. Williams filed to Witt, and Foster went to third after the catch. Jacobson walked, filling the bases. McManus singled to left, scoring Foster and Slaters. Jacobson stopping at second. Severeid filed to Ruth. Ward tossed out Gerber. TWO RUNS.

NEW YORK—Witt bunted and on Foster's overthrow, Witt tried to go all the way to second, but was out. McManus to Gerber. Dugan filed to Williams. Ruth fanned. NO RUNS.

SEVENTH INNING.
BROWNS—Scott made a fine play in fielding Shocker's grounder near second base and tossing him out. Tobin grounded to Pipp. Foster grounded to Scott. NO RUNS.

NEW YORK—Foster went up against the boxes for Pipp's foul. Chang was hit by a pitched ball. Gerber tossed out Meusel from deep short. Ward popped to Gerber. NO RUNS.

EIGHTH INNING.
BROWNS—Slaters popped to Scott. Williams filed deep to Ruth. Jacobson singled to center. McManus singled to center. Jacobson stopping at second. Severeid forced McManus. Scott to Ward. NO RUNS.

NEW YORK—Scott popped to Gerber. Smith batted for Hoyt and was tossed out by McManus. Witt went out the same way. NO RUNS.

NINTH INNING.
BROWNS—Murray went to the hill for New York. Gerber singled to left. Attempting to sacrifice, Shocker bunted into a double play, Pipp to Scott, to Ward. Tobin doubled down the right field foul line. Scott threw out Foster. NO RUNS.

NEW YORK—Dugan singled to center. It was the first hit off Shocker since the fourth inning.

WRAY'S COLUMN

While the Iron Is Hot.

ADVERTISING and civic boosting organizations have formed a baseball rooters' club, object: "Win a pennant for St. Louis!" It is a goal not of any great intrinsic merit, perhaps of doubtful public benefit. And boosting never made anything or anybody greater than it or his was.

Nevertheless, the germ of a real advance, as far as mere baseball is concerned, may be found in such an organization if it is made permanent and not allowed to die with the present philistine baseball access.

Boston had a Royal Rooters' Club, and the organization wielded a big stick. Mayor Curley, official at the time, was a member of the organization, which held that the Boston fans had rights which even the club owners could not ignore.

It was the Royal Rooters' opposition there that eventually forced James McAleer and his associates to sell out to Jim Lannin. It was the Royal Rooters' Club edict that caused the last day's attendance at the world's series of 1912 in Boston to shrink from 30,000 on previous days to 17,000, the deciding day of the series, because of alleged discrimination in ticket sales against Bostonians.

Unfortunately for Boston, the Rooters' Club sank out of sight with second-division days, so that it was not organized to fight against the present Frazee domination. But while it was a going organization it got results.

Another "Day" Coming.
A "SHOCKER DAY" is being planned. So long as these affairs are spontaneously organized by fans and not promoted in the interest of self-seeking persons or concerns, they should be supported.

Shocker is a very deserving pitcher. He has been the Rock of Ages for the Browns during two seasons.

But if the publicity sought is merely in the interest of some jewelry to be sold or automobile to be advertised, or individual advertisement to be served, why should the public give up its quarters and dollars?

A Rooters' Club could serve the public a good turn by passing upon all such affairs and giving or withholding its indorsement, according to the merits of the case.

Our $100,000 Beauty.
If you can make others believe it, it's so. That must be Johnny Kilbane's motto. Kilbane, featherweight ring champion, asked the American Legion representatives for a $100,000 guarantee to risk his title against Eugene Criqui, European featherweight titleholder.

Needless to say the legion forces recoiled in disorder before the absurd demand. But there is a backfire coming. Louisiana, whose commission is affiliated with the National Boxing Commission, has asked the national body to take up the matter and support the New York Commission's action in removing Kilbane from title consideration in New York State.

There are 17 commissions affiliated with the national boxing body, and their united plan would just about end Kilbane's career.

Kilbane May Be Excused.
KILBANE was offered a guarantee of $45,000 and a percentage if the receipts went over such a figure. It is said he was offered $40,000 to fight in New York; therefore his refusal of the New Orleans bid can be understood.

It is also easy to believe that Kilbane may have read about the $175,000 purse paid Benny Leonard for one bout and figure that he himself ought to be worth $100,000.

With so much money involved it is small wonder the minds of boxers and every one connected with the game are dazzled by the rewards. Nor can Kilbane be blamed much if, unwilling to cheapen himself, he is willing to remain idle, unless he gets his price.

Promoters believe they can't afford to pay Kilbane $100,000. Kilbane thinks they can. Looks like a point for debate, not banishment.

Why Rickey Sighs.
BILL DOAKS' record this year is nine victories and 11 defeats. Last year he won 15 games and lost six. His 1921 effectiveness, applied to this year's play, would have given him team five more victories and five fewer defeats—enough to have the Cardinals in first place today.

The weakening of Lumbago Bill hurt the rest of the staff by putting added burdens on its already humped shoulders. For every Doak failure meant added duty by some other member of the staff.

Thus the Cardinals' pitching efficiency, weak since the beginning, has become almost negligible during the later weeks of the season, owing to Bill's failure to regain his top form.

Here's Another Big Factor.

Held, Lincoln, Curran and Malley of Forest Park Paired for Toledo Event.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
TOLEDO, O., Aug. 25.—Every-thing is in readiness for the first national amateur public golf links tournament, which is to open at Ottawa Park Monday. City officials have promised to make the visit of the outside entrants more pleasant by barring Toledo golfers from the links on Saturday and Sunday. Some record-breaking scores are looked for. In view of the excellent condition of the links and the fact that some of the best golfers in the country will be among those to compete.

Russel Martin, city champion of Chicago; Eddie E. Held of St. Louis and William J. Quinlan of Boston are among the topnotchers who will be present.

Entries Number 135.
The final count of entrants shows that 135 golfers will come from all parts of the country to take part. From as far west as San Francisco and as far east as Boston and Baltimore will come the visitors. Chicago, with 30 entrants, heads the list. New York is next with 10; Detroit, St. Louis, Baltimore, Hartford and several other cities follow.

The tournament will have an international aspect by the entry of five of Toronto's best golfers.

The St. Louis golfers arrived in Toledo Wednesday and have been practicing over the Ottawa links, declaring it to be one of the best natural courses they have ever played on. The qualifying rounds will be held on Monday.

The pairings for the qualifying round were completed last Thursday night. The St. Louis pairings follow:

Wm. J. Quinlan, Boston, vs. Ed. die Held, St. Louis.

Braves Score Five Runs on Misplays by Ray Blades, and Defeat the Cardinals, 12-11

Rickeymen Make Six Errors and Their Pitchers Collapse — New York Giants, With Lead of Four and One Half Games, Call at Sportsman's Park This Afternoon.

By J. Roy Stockton.

To relate the misdeeds of one member of a baseball team, when the team has just lost a 12-11 game by making six errors, appears at first glance to be an injustice. But when that man is a minor league infielder and is sent to patrol a major league outfield for a team second in a league pennant race, then Oswald, the traps are all set for the south chorus.

Not only does it appear to be poor baseball to send a youngster of infield experience to cover an outfield, but it appears to be unfair to the player to ask him to do that which he is not trained to do. At any rate, Ray Blades, former Post-Dispatch local leader, recently purchased by the Cardinals from Houston, was heralded as an infielder at the time of purchase.

When he reported he was sent to the outfield, Rickey had been having trouble finding a suitable substitute for Austin McHenry, who went home more than a month ago with a cold developing into pneumonia. And so Blades was sent to the outfield. Here's what Blades did yesterday:

First inning: With two down and two on the bases he let an easy fly fall safe for two bases, scoring two runs.

Seventh inning: With bases filled and two down, Blades, playing short, let an easy grounder from Gibson roll between his legs, two runs scoring.

Eighth inning: Blades fielded Nicholson's grounder cleanly and then took so much time before throwing that Nicholson easily beat the throw. Two runs were scored in this frame, one of which was charged to that error.

The question immediately suggested itself: "Does Blades hit so well that it makes up for the fielding weakness? You know, Smith and Mueller are not used against left-handed pitchers, because they do not hit well against them."

Not a Vicious Batter.

THURSDAY AT STATE FAIR MARKED ATTENDANCE RECORD

Estimated Nearly 50,000 Persons
Attended Shows During the Day and Evening

REDAILIA, Mo., Aug. 20.—"Big Thursday" at Missouri's fair brought forth the record attendance of the week, an estimate being that near 50,000 persons passed through the gates for the events during the day and the night horse show. It was Governors' and University day, and the fair grounds was thronged with present and former university men. Gov. Hyde, who was scheduled for an address, did not arrive until late in the afternoon, and on reaching the grounds informed Secretary W. D. Smith he did not come to make an address, but to "take in the fair and mingle with the Missourians attending." Gov. Hyde intends to remain at the fair today, and it is probable he will make an address through the loud speaker during the day.

A horseshoe pitching contest among "old timers," special music and demonstrations, together with continuance of judging in many departments, made the day one of the best of the week.

How can a woman keep her husband?

There are 12 separate and distinct methods in popular use in America, according to Sarah Warder MacConnell, authoress of "How to Keep Your Husband," a book which is a collection of the 12 favorite feminine formulas.

tellectual conception of the hardness of his work, or its importance, or its technique. And then she wonders why he—or some other business man —has an affair with his intelligent private secretary, who is a working woman. I think it's no real marriage when a woman is divorced from her husband's work.

Helping Him Work.

"Helping him with it is a splendid realization of the possibilities of true marriage," agreed Miss MacConnell.

"But in this the husband must be the master. On the other hand, I should say that a woman really succeeds as a wife if she makes the man eager for collaboration.

It is usually an accident, a man wants not a collaborator, a working partner, perhaps, but not a partnering in work. After he finds his bridge or cathedral or writes his philosophy, then he wants work at a part of his wife's work.

It is a creature of the imagination to share and appear but not to labor. In fear of interference, the average man does not want

THE MERITS OF MUSIC

AND JAZZ

THE Kansas State Normal School

for popularizing good music and the movement has recently been sweeping the State with a charm as conspicuous and attractive as the

The fourth annual contest convention has lately been held at Emporia.

share in the many awards.

Even the originator of the scheme has been surprised and delighted by the interest taken in his project by every high school in the State. Before sending delegates to Emporia for the final, every city and larger community has had its local contest. Today, for example, a team of 88 to the State meeting.

features of the affair will give evidence of its significance for education. First, the musical selections, in order to be acceptable

for even the local contests, were required to be of a high quality and free from the suggestion of jazz. Second, the selections were not a note in sight of the performers. Third, the complete variety of musical performances made the acceptance of the challenge easy for a very large number of students. Chorus, orchestra, single instrument performance, and other arrangements helped to make up the interesting variety.

HABITS THAT BEAUTIFY

Did You Ever Stop to Think How Much the Way You Walk Adds to the Charm of Your Appearance?

By DORIS DOSCH
I suppose you never saw a woman with a very awkward gait and a very awkward walk. Perhaps this little bad habit is one you would think of as marring your beauty, but it is a very unattractive picture as a whole if you are a woman. It is positively injurious to the health as well. Every step you take is jarring to the internal organs and it throws them out of their proper position. What are the consequences? You are fretful and nervous and you cannot go for long without getting fatigued and you get no good from it. It can be remedied by a little practice by "watching" your walk. You will cultivate a well-conditioned swinging of the body that will give you a graceful carriage. You will soon find that walking is a most agreeable to you. Sometimes it is the fault of the feet that causes you to throw the body too far out or too far in, but in some cases it is just simply a bad habit that you acquired in youth. It is going to be easy for you to start about rectifying these habits that interfere with your stride and an even balance of the weight. Each foot firmly on the ball of the foot and swing the weight to the other at each step you take. A little awkward at first, but you will soon remedy the bending over on the one side, slouching on the other, the ankles rub. Do not try to excuse saying that you have no right to be so fatigued. It is very easy to strengthen your muscles by proper massage and a firm growth of the weight of the body is increased. Often you have this.

Bowser Has to Give It Up

By Thornton W. Burgess

Who does his best no more can do. More none may ask of me or you.

—Bowser the Hound

One is more patient and persistent than is Bowser the Hound when he is hunting Reddy Fox. Hunting is a sort of game to Bowser. He enjoys it in the same way that you enjoy a game of hide-and-seek. Probably you like to do the hiding and let some one else do the seeking. But Bowser likes to do the seeking.

When at last he found Reddy's trail leading away from the railroad track he started to follow it, baying joyously. It was easy to follow, and Bowser was once more filled with the excitement of the chase. He had no trouble following that trail until it came to a place just within the edge of the Green Forest. There the trail became all mixed up; Patiently, carefully, Bowser tried to work it out with that wonderful nose of his. But each time it suddenly ended at the same place. Over and over again he tried it, and always ended just there. He made a circle around that spot, hoping to pick up the trail. He kept making that circle larger and larger. Nowhere did he find the faintest trace of Reddy Fox. Then he returned to the place where the trail ended. Just there a tall tree had been blown down in some great storm and the top of it had been caught in another tree so that it leaned against the latter. Bowser looked at it, and then went over to the base of it and sniffed around. He even climbed up on the very foot of it and sniffed. There wasn't a trace of Reddy Fox. Bowser whined with eagerness and disappointment. He jumped to the ground, and once more began to search all about.

But it was useless. Reddy Fox had vanished quite as if he had had wings. Of course Bowser knew that he hadn't. He knew that somehow Reddy had played a clever trick, but what that trick was Bowser couldn't imagine. He did hate to give up. Yes, sir, Bowser did hate to give up. But he knew when he is beaten, and so at last with a little whine of disappointment he turned and trotted toward home.

"That red rascal was too smart for me this time," thought Bowser. "But sooner or later I'll get him. Anyway I guess he won't come up around my master's barnyard again very soon. I've given him a run he won't forget in a hurry. He is tired. I could tell that by the way he was running. And he must be hot. He must be dreadfully hot. I am hot myself, but with my short hair I cannot be nearly as hot as he must be. On the whole, I'm rather glad I didn't catch him. It means that seer hunt and hunt for that vanished trail, and heard him whine with disappointment. Just once Reddy was worried for a minute. That was when Bowser climbed up on the foot of that fallen tree and sniffed about. Had Bowser walked up that trunk just a few steps more he would have found Reddy's scent. You know Reddy had leaped up there from the point where his scent ended on the ground.

He grinned happily as he watched Bowser hunt and hunt for that vanished trail.

When at last Bowser disappeared on his way home Reddy gave a little sigh of relief. Then he jumped down from that tree and trotted to a favorite resting place. There he curled up for the rest he sorely needed.

DEVILED EGGS

B OIL eggs 20 minutes. Remove shells and cut eggs through center. Remove yolks and cut fine with spoon. Stir together one tablespoonful each of melted butter and vinegar, one teaspoon sugar, one scant teaspoonful of mustard, and pepper and salt to taste. Pour this over the yolks and mix thoroughly, then replace into the whites. Cut a slice from the end to make them stand up nicely on a bed of lettuce.

FASHION NEWS NOTES

PARIS—Unless your figure is of the best, it is time to begin a song of sorrow or a hymn of hate. This tight tailor-made suit with a clearly defined waistline is on the way back. The coat will be long, almost knee-length. It will fit so snugly that the normal waistline will be accentuated. All the loose, indefinite, long-waisted effects are doomed so far as tailored suits are concerned, unless, and this is quite possible, women who like the long, loose effects simply refuse to go thrust into snugly fitted clothes.

LONDON—Bare hands and arms are no longer seen at the smartest evening affairs. The best dressed women have gone back to the custom of wearing long white gloves at least to the elbow, and frequently higher. After all, bare hands and arms have been "in" for a good while, and a return to evening gloves is not unexpected. Many women consider gloves a tremendous advantage, particularly in an overheated ballroom.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD

By SOPHIE IRENE LOEB

A WOMAN lay, her face to the wall. And prayed that death might come. Her courage at its lowest ebb—gone. Alone! Alone! She bore the burden And went down into the Valley of the Shadow To bring to earth a new-born soul. And her tortured heart cried aloud In her depth of despair, in her degradation. And before her the future spread dark and dreary. With the added burden of the blameless babe That should have entered life with joy and thanksgiving. Unwelcome, unwanted, there it lay, a bundle of warmth. That asked for nothing but a chance. Yet alas! It faced the world handicapped With a stigma of reproach, reproof for its very existence. And she who had borne it could not stand the smile Of the kindly woman who looked down upon her with compassion. It was all pity, pity, pity. And the soul of her rebelled at the injustice. She who had given all, believing all, Had loved not wisely but too well. Her trust broken, and now She paid the penalty with usurious interest. Friendless indeed she was, for those she loved Would be put to shame, and she could not bear To face the future—so she prayed for death. This young blossom, in the very heyday of youth and beauty, Not long since the love light was in her eyes. And hope beat high in her heart. But alas! Now laid low, With the weight of the world on her shoulders, Bearing the scarlet letter of what men call sin. While he—she who had defiled and deserted— He went scot-free.

L'ENVOI.

It is the year 2000 A. D. They stand side by side, he and she, Before the Court of Human Justice. They bear the burden equally. For the world has paid the price Of broken lives and hearts and souls. And has changed its way.

A Scotch Race—Close.

WELL, speaking of the ups and downs
In current pennant races;
We notice where the Tanks and Browns
Are often trading places.
No trades for players may be made
To better the conditions,
So having nothing else to trade
They promptly trade positions.

It warms the cockles of the heart
To see our boys contenders;
We never cottoned to the part
Of rooters for tail-enders.
But while the Browns are showing speed
And at the top we list 'em,
This alternating in the lead
Will wreck our nervous system.

And as the end is drawing near,
With leaders alternating,
Our life is one of hope and fear,
With hope predominating.
One day we think our boys will cop,
The next our hopes diminish.
And so we wish they'd get on top
And stay there to the finish.

TOO TRUE.

THAT'S HIM.

He has lived in little old N. Y.

35 years old he is wise beyond his

TOO TRUE.

We understand the world is round
And hangs suspended in the air;
But on it many men are found
Who are not strictly on the square.

WHY NOT?

some ball players seem to think that it is the proper thing for owners

MY FAVORITE STORIES

A DEPENDABLE FAMILY INCOME.

FORMERLY, in one of the Southern states, the insane were not always sent to an institution. Sometimes they were formally awarded into the custody of someone, usually a parent or a guardian, and for the keep of such an unfortunate the State paid $100 a year. This amount, in certain sections, was regarded as a handsome addition to the family income.

One summer, a citizen from the lowlands was up in the hill country of his native State taking title to coal lands for an Eastern syndicate.
In a canoe, with a native to guide him, he was proceeding along a creek that penetrated into one of the wildest and most desolate recesses of the mountains.

They came to a homestead that was infinitely better looking than any they had seen for days. The house was of clapboards instead of the customary logs, and it was painted. The fences were stout and newly whitewashed. The stock in the barn lot had a well-nourished look.

"Who lives here?" inquired the stranger.

The guide told him.

"Judging by the looks of his place," said the lowlander, "he must be a forehanded man."

"He certainly is," said the native. "He's forehanded, but he's had a sight of luck in his time, too. He's got 11 children and all of 'em is literate."
